8 get life for killing schoolboy

Principal accused acquitted of charges

COURT CORRESPONDENT

A Dhaka Court yesterday sentenced eight people to life term rigorous imprisonment for killing Shaiful Islam Suman, a student of class nine, on May 25 in 1997 in Munshiganj.

The convicts are Bashir Uddin, Suman son of Abdul Rahman, Suman son of Sirajul Islam, Abdul Jalil, Abdul Hannan, Ruhul Amin, Mohammad Liton and Manu.

Of the convicts, Abdul Jalil was present in the court during the delivery of the judgement while seven others were tried in absentia.

The court, however, acquitted the principal accused Bachchu Sheikh alias City Bachchu of charges.

Judge Abu Hanif of the Speedy Trial Tribunal-3 gave the verdict at a jam-packed courtroom.

The punishment of the fugitives will be effective from the date of their arrest or surrender, the judgement said.

In the case filed with Munshiganj Sadar Police Station, the victim's mother Basirunnessa alleged that at about 8:00pm on May 24 in 1997 a gang of miscreants led by City Bachchu called Suman out of his house and took him to a nearby place and stabbed him to death. Then the gang dumped the body under a bridge at Bazrajugini under Munshiganj district.

Police recovered the body on May 27 from the place. Later, a murder case was filed accusing City Bachchu and four others and the police pressed charges against City Bachchu and eight others on June 11 in 1998.

The victim's mother Basirunnessa expressed her dissatisfaction at the judgement saying that the principal accused was acquitted of charges for non-cooperation of the Special Public Prosecutor (PP). Had the PP conducted the case properly, the main accused could not be acquitted, Basirunnessa told the Daily Star.

Special PP Nurul Iman Babul appeared for the state while advocates Mahub Ahmed and Abdul Quaiyum Khan defended the accused.

Trader carrying explosive materials lynched

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Khulna

A mob lynched a trader at Khulna bazar on Tuesday night after he was found carrying a huge quantity of explosive materials.

Saidul Islam Morol, 35, a spice seller, came under attack at around 10:00pm when he got down from a rickshaw near his shop. He succumbed to his injuries on way to Khulna Medical College Hospital.

Later, police recovered two kilograms of sulphur, two kilograms of potash, four kilograms of gunpowder, 10 kilograms of marble, one dozen of large-sized tapes and 2,000 chocolate crackers from his possession.

According to the traders at Khulna bazar, Saidul had been selling explosive substances undercover for the last three years.

Saidul, who was arrested under

Special Powers act on April 27 last year for possessing bomb-making materials, was on bail, police said. A charge sheet against him was also submitted on September 13.

The traders also said that he had links with the extremists and armed cadres of different political parties.

Police arrested Nizamuddin, 20, who worked as salesman at Saidul's shop, for interrogation.

Keep UPs out of politics to ensure development

Speakers tell workshop

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a workshop yesterday urged the government to strengthen the Union Parishad (UP) with a view to ensuring development at grass-roots level.

They said that UP should be kept out of partisan politics to give the democracy an institutional shape and village-centric development.

Khan Foundation, a non-government organisation, arranged the workshop at its auditorium in the city.

Speaking at the workshop as chief guest Mohammed Mizanur Rahman, Director General of the NGO Affairs Bureau, said there should be a close cooperation between the government officials at upazila level and the UP chairmen to implement the projects properly.

Due to lack of understanding among them many projects are not being implemented properly that causes financial loss to the government," Mizan said. Besides, many upazila level officers do not perform their duties regularly, he added.

Chairman of National Union Parishad Forum Golam Sarwar said that local government, especially the UP, was being neglected.

Sarwar said a UP chairman has to suffer a lot to receive fund from upazila office for any kind of development work.

"On one hand government is talking about strengthening the local government, but on the other the government is taking away powers from the UP chairmen," he said.

He said that bureaucracy was the main obstacle to the proper flourishing of the local government. Sarwar suggested that the local government should be free from partisan politics for its proper functioning.

Khorshed Alam, an engineer of Palash Upazila under Narshingdi, said there should not be any political interference in the UP activities.

Roksana Khandakar, executive director of the Khan Foundation, in her address of welcome said that without strengthening the local government it was not possible to engage the grassroots level people to development process.

"Every government considers the UPs as an instrument of power rather than a democratic institution," Roksana added.

"Party in power always thinks that it is easy to clinch the state power through establishing dominance over UPs," she said.

There should not be any partisan interference in the UP activities for the sake of development, she said.

The elected UP representatives and upazila level government officials attended the workshop.

'Quality seeds can up paddy yields by 3.2m tons a year'

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Annual production of paddy can be raised by 3.2 million tons using quality seeds, which can provide food for 12.7 million people, a survey revealed yesterday.

Bangladesh currently produces 37.5 million tons of paddy each year.

The additional produce could meet the demand for rice of the growing population for seven years, said the survey presented at a workshop in the city.

Mahub Hossain, head of social science division of Manila-based International Rice Research Institute (IRRI), conducted the survey under the 'Seed Health Improvement Project (SHIP)'.

The IRRI has been implementing the five-year project since 1999 in collaboration with Bangladesh Rice Research Institute (BRRI), Bangladesh Agricultural University, Rural Development Academy, Bogra, Brac, Proshika, Care, Grameen Krishi Foundation and Wave.

Hossain said the amount of rice produced by the trained farmers under the project was higher by 0.7 tons per hectare in the amon season and by 0.43 tons per hectare in the boro season than the rice yield produced by the traditional farmers.

Businessman, 2 daughters found dead in Rangpur

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Rangpur

A businessman and his two daughters were found dead at a house at Senpara in Rangpur yesterday afternoon.

Police recovered the bodies of Khabor Ali, 48, a distributor of Finely Tea, and his two daughters, Dolon, 8, and Dipti, 5, from the house used as office rooms of the businessman.

Quoting his wife Jasmine, police said Ali had been staying in his office for the last few days following a family feud. Their house is located at Adarspara of Rangpur town.

On Monday, the two daughters went to Ali's office after their father sent one of his employees to his home to bring them, Jasmine said.

As they did not return home on the day, the worried mother went to the office the next day only to find it under lock and key.

Detecting a bad smell coming out of the locked office, they informed the police who broke open the office and recovered the bodies.

Some believe that a well-organised group killed the three while others said Ali may have committed suicide after killing his daughters with poison.

Police said they are yet to establish the motive behind the deaths. The bodies were sent to the morgue for autopsy.
