It has taken up an innovative income-generating programme to rehabilitate flood affected poor students and marginal farmers in Lalmonirhat district. ## New Barisal Sadar Hospital unutilised over corruption stand-off

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Barisal

The new building of Barisal Sadar Hospital, built at a cost of Tk 7 core, is utilised because it can not be handed over to the hospital authorities by the ministry of health due to alleged corruption in its construction.

The hospital authorities are refusing to accept the new complex, built on the old hospital compound, alleging that it was not constructed as per the project plan. Allegations have it that there were gross anomalies and corruption in the construction, deviating from the approved project plan.

The plan included some special arrangements and facilities for female patients, particularly expected mothers, but nothing has been done in this regard, sources said.

A meeting to decide its handover and a possible date for inauguration ended inconclusively on August 16 because of allegations by the hospital authorities that the facilities were not created.

Construction of the new building was planned in view of the rush of patients to hospitals in the divisional headquarter.

The Construction Management and Maintenance Unit (CMMU) of Health and Family Welfare Ministry started the construction about three years back.

The project plan provided for special type of bathrooms, floors and other facilities in the female ward, but those were not done. Water supply facilities and sanitation system built are also not as per the plan, the sources said.

But mysteriously, some units were shifted to the new complex before completion of construction and without authorities' permission. Pressure was given on the hospital authorities to shift the female surgery and gynecology wards to the new complex.

In such a situation, Barisal City Corporation (BCC) Mayor Majibur Rahman Sarwar MP, who is the district minister-in-charge, called a meeting of the District Health Committee and formed a body headed by the Director of Barisal Sher-e-Bangla Medical College Hospital (SBMCH) to decide a date for handover of the new hospital building.

At the August 16 meeting, CMMU representative Wahidur Rahman proposed immediate takeover of the new building by the hospital authorities and pressed for fixing an inauguration date. But the other members of the committee demanded the copy of the project plan, alleging that constructions deviated from it.

The meeting ended inconclusively as other members also wanted to see the project plan.

Public Works Department Executive Engineer Humaun Kabir Chowdhury and Power Development Board engineer Emdadul Huq, both members of the committee, were also present at the meeting. But later they declined to make any comment.

When contacted, Dr Mizanur Rahman, Resident Medical Officer of Sadar Hospital, acknowledged irregularities in the construction but declined to give details.

Meanwhile, the Director General of Health Department during a visited to the new complex also expressed his dissatisfaction about the quality of work, the sources said.

The city dwellers feel that the new complex should be inaugurated soon as the BSBMCH can not cope with the rush of patients.

Army pullout from CHT opposed by settlers

Speakers recall memory of Pakuakhali tragedy

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Rangamati

Speakers at a discussants meeting opposed withdrawal of army from Chittagong Hill Tracts (CHT) fearing insecurity for Bangalee settlers.

If army is withdrawn, Bangalee settlers might have to take up arms to protect themselves from alleged attacks by a section of tribesmen engaged in various crimes including toll collection, they said at a discussion meeting reminiscing the Pakuakhali tragedy in which 34 Bangalee woodcutters were killed by the then Shahtibahini in 1996.

"There will be no alternative to taking up arms to save settlers from tribesmen's oppressive activities if army is pulled out and government will be responsible for any situational arising thereof", said Jamate-Islam district Ameer ASM Shahidullah said at the meeting held on Thursday.

It was jointly organised by Parbattya Gono Parishad (PGP), an organisation of Bangalee settlers and Jamaat-e-Islam.

He demanded redeployment of army in areas from where they were withdrawn, considering the prevailing situation.

The Shantibahini was disarmed and its members were granted general amnesty after signing of the landmark CHT peace agreement on December 2, 1997.

On September 9, 1996, some Shantibahini members in a letter called the woodcutters to join a discussion in Pakuakhali jungle in Baghaichhari upazila. As they went there, armed Shantibahini men cordoned and slaughtered them.

On the following morning, army and police recovered some 28 bodies, most of those with throats slit or severed, floating on the Mainee river.

The massacre stirred all quarters and the then government formed a committee to probe the incident. But its report has not yet been made public.

The speakers demanded immediate publication of the probe report, rehabilitation of the affected families, compensation for them and trial of all killings in the CHT over the years.

Presided over by Rangamati Poura Jamaat Ameer Nurul Amin Patuay, the meeting was addressed by, among others, PGP leader Jalal Uddin Choudhury Alomgir, district Jamaat Assistant Secretary Abu Bakar Mulla, its leader Harunur Rashid, Islami Chhatra Shibir leader Abdullah Al Mamun, Advocate Mokhter Ahmaed, Jahngir Alam and Jamshed.
