BAD PERFORMANCE IN PUBLIC EXAMS

Lack of proper lessons responsible: Dr Farruk

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Education Minister Dr M Osman Farruk yesterday brushed aside the allegation that inadequate allocation is responsible for bad performance in public examinations.

"There is no relationship between salary and result in public examinations," the minister said at a workshop.

The workshop on 'Results of public examination and allocation of MPO' was organised by the Directorate of Secondary and Higher Secondary Examination at Dhaka Teachers' Training College in the city.

The minister said none passed in Alim and Dakhil examinations from some 242 madrasas while many other educational institutions, which receive similar allocations, performed well.

It proves that there is no relationship between salary and good result in public examinations, he added.

The minister said the reason behind the bad performance is the problem in imparting proper lesson and bad management of educational institutions.

He said the teachers could improve the performance of their educational institutions in public examination only by following code of ethics and not through the enhancement of salary and allowances by the government.

"Follow self-discipline to improve the performance of your educational institutions," the minister urged the teachers.

Farruk said a huge chunk of education budget amounting to about Tk 2,500 crore is gobbled up by teachers as salary and infrastructure development.

Earlier, Mohammad Selim Bhuiyan, member secretary of Non-government Educational Institution Teachers Employees Welfare Trust, alleged that inadequate salary and allowance are responsible for bad performance in public examination.

In his keynote paper, Bhuiyan said poor salary structure failed to attract meritorious and competent candidates in teaching profession causing a nosedive in standard of education.

Education Secretary Faruq Ahmad Siddique said the government is contemplating to take stern action against non-performing educational institutions.

"We are not in favour of shutting down those, but we are finding ways and means to improve their performance," he added.

Presided over by Director General of the Directorate of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education Prof Mohammad Junaid, the workshop was participated by chairmen of different education boards and teachers' representatives.

'Monga takes serious turn in northern region'

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a press conference yesterday said Monga, a famine-like situation, is once again taking a serious turn in the northern region due to recent floods, abnormal price hike of essentials and the government's indifference.

They warned that the ongoing Monga will claim a number of lives if the government does not take proper measures to combat it immediately.

The press conference was organised by Khetmajur Samity, a forum of farm labourers, at Purana Paltan in the city.

The speakers urged the government to fulfil their ten-point demand that include food for work programme for the solution of Monga.

Quoting a daily newspaper, General Secretary of Khetmajur Samity Advocate Sohel Ahmed said three people had already died of diseases related to Monga.

Four new DCs appointed

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The government yesterday appointed four new deputy commissioners in different districts, says an official notification.

Anisuddin Manju, director of the Prime Minister's office, has been appointed DC in Kushtia; Moinuddin, private secretary to the communications minister, in Bagerhat; Mizanur Rahman, deputy secretary at the Ministry of Establishment, in Joypurhat and Habibur Rahman, deputy director of the monitoring unit of Directorate of Compulsory Primary Education, in Cox's Bazar.

"Every year people in the northern region including greater Dinajpur and Rangpur become the victims of Monga with the advent of Bangla months Ashwin and Kartik due to adverse natural condition, but the government is indifferent to take permanent measures to combat it," he said.

On one hand, the distribution of VGF cards is very insufficient and on the other hand ruling party-backed miscreants are looting the relief materials unabated causing the crisis horrible, he alleged.

Giving the tragic picture of Monga-affected areas, Sohel Ahmed said the poor people are selling their valuables to have a square of meal.

Vice-president of the samity Anwar Hossain Reza said the number of landless people is increasing alarmingly in the area due to Monga.

The leaders declared that they will stage demonstrations and siege the offices of the deputy commissioners across the country on October 27 demanding of the government to take proper steps for saving the Monga-affected people.

Central leaders of the samity Ramendra Barman and Manirul Huda spoke at the press conference.
