

Iraqi vote count gets underway

Transport plane crash kills 10 British soldiers

AFP, Baghdad

Iraqi election workers yesterday were counting ballots from the country's first free election in half a century after millions braved insurgents' bombs, mortars and threats to cast their vote.

The election commission said a majority of voters took part in the election in most provinces, in what Prime Minister Iyad Allawi described as a victory over terrorists.

"We still don't have a final number but we can say it was better than expected. The final percentage could be between 60 and 75 per cent," said Harith Mohammed Hassan, deputy chief of the

60-hour hartal ends with stray clashes

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The 60-hour countrywide hartal called by the Awami League (AL) and its allies ended at 6:00pm yesterday paralysing life for the third consecutive day and stray incidents of clashes between rival political activists and police baton charge on demonstrators took place in the capital and elsewhere in the country.

The shutdown disrupted economic activities, road communication and train service.

A number of flights were also delayed or suspended due to the hartal.

Police action left dozens injured, including several journalists in Jessore.

In Dhaka, police kept Muktangan cordoned off from morning to afternoon apparently to prevent holding of any opposition rally.

The law enforcers also barricaded the central AL office at Bangabandhu Avenue, Russell Square and Bangabandhu Museum area yesterday.

AL leaders and workers however brought out small processions in the areas braving police barricades.

The main opposition party and

India to take up issue on summit sidelines

OUR CORRESPONDENT, New Delhi

India yesterday hinted it would take up with Bangladesh the issue of assassination of former finance minister and front line Awami League leader SAMS Kibria on the sidelines of the 13th Saarc Summit.

Asked whether the incident would affect the Saarc Summit, External Affairs Minister Natwar Singh told reporters here that "I hope it will not".

On India's taking up the issue with Bangladesh, he said: "When we get to Dhaka, inevitably, reference
