

Bush for Iraq War architect to head WB

AP, Washington

President Bush chose Paul Wolfowitz on Wednesday to head the World Bank, selecting an architect of the Iraq war whose hard-line foreign policy stance as deputy defence secretary has made him a target of critics at home and abroad.

Bush called Wolfowitz "a compassionate, decent man who will do a fine job at the World Bank."

But international aid and other groups such as the Mobilization for Global Justice and Friends of the Earth as well as some Democrats on Capitol Hill voiced concerns about the president's choice to take the helm of the 184-nation development bank. They say Wolfowitz, 61, lacks both the development credentials and collaborative management style needed for the job.

"I really believe in the mission of the bank, which is reducing poverty," Wolfowitz told The Associated Press in an interview. "It is a noble mission and a matter of enlightened self-interest."

The selection came on the heels of another Bush pick that has courted criticism: the nomination of John Bolton to be UN ambassador. Bolton, currently the State Department's arms control chief, has spoken dismissively of the United Nations.

Steve Clemons of the liberal New America Foundation, said the Wolfowitz pick demonstrates that "neoliberalism maintains a tenacious, tight grip on US foreign policy."

The Wolfowitz nomination which is subject to approval by the World

Bank's board could further strain US relations with Europe, where France and Germany were among the countries that vociferously opposed the US invasion of Iraq.

He said Wednesday that he recognised the need to smooth relations with European allies, saying, "I have a lot to listen to." If approved by the board, he said, "I will be an international civil servant responsible to that board."

Wolfowitz was among the most forceful Bush administration figures in arguing that Saddam Hussein had weapons of mass destruction. A foreign policy hawk who believes the United States should use its superpower status to push for reforms in other nations, he also predicted Americans would be welcomed as liberators rather than occupiers once they toppled Saddam.

If approved by the bank board, Wolfowitz would replace World Bank President James Wolfensohn, who is stepping down June 1, the end of his second five-year term.

the last week of this month.

The BSF delegation at the meeting also agreed to withdraw their camp at Bholanathpur in Khagrachhari, set up on the zero line violating rules, BDR sources said.

The two sides discussed 18 common issues.

The meeting also decided to start a survey of the disputed 1,500 acres of land at Muhurir Char.

Our correspondent from Dinajpur reports: A sector commander-level meeting between the BDR and BSF at Atwari in Panchagarh district yesterday decided to work jointly to ease border tension and resolve the issues as per the border guidelines.

The BDR team raised the issues of BSF obstruction to the construction of a 160-metre embankment to protect Barshala village at Atwari from river erosion, BSF's push-in bid and erection of barbed wire fencing.

The two sides agreed that construction of the dam would start on March 20, sources said.

Killing of innocent Bangladeshis by BSF, smuggling, drugs and arms trafficking, intrusion of BSF men into Bangladesh territory and some other issues also came up at the meeting.

Habiganj carnage probe

Asked whether they would reject the probe report, Reza told The Daily Star, "The question of rejection or acceptance doesn't arise here, as I've not seen the report. But we are affirming again that we won't accept any probe except one by the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation of the USA)."

Explaining the reason for the stance, Reza said, "We know for sure that the local investigators are not allowed to interrogate powerful individuals who might have been behind my father's killing."

He said they have no objection to local investigators or doubt about their competence, but the handicap is they are not allowed to work freely. "That's why we're demanding an FBI probe."

He, however, expressed his concern at the newspaper reports that the investigators failed to identify the masterminds behind the grenade attack.

Reza said the probe report has implicated eight Habiganj BNP men in the attack. But, "Habiganj BNP doesn't run independently. Powerful leaders of the greater Sylhet region and the central leaders ultimately control operations of the grassroots units," he said. "But the roles of these higher level leaders [in the incident] have not been revealed [in the report]."

PBCP demands Tk 2 lakh from KU pro-VC

Threatens with death for failure

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Khulna

Outlawed Purbo Banglar Communist Party's (PBCP) Janajuddho faction on Wednesday threatened the pro-vice-chancellor of Khulna University with death if he failed to give the outfit Tk 2 lakh by Sunday.

In a hand-written letter sent to Pro-VC Dr Syed Jibad Hossain by post, the PBCP has fixed March 26 to 'liquidate' him if he did not give the toll.

The letter, sent from Khulna City Post Office, bears no name but designation of the outfit's regional leader.

KU Section Officer Syed Mizanur Rahman asked Khulna Metropolitan Police to take necessary security measures for Prof Jibad, also the acting VC, as the VC has resigned.

The pro-VC was not available for comments, as he is now in Rajshahi to visit his ailing wife, according the section officer.

Mobarak was wounded in the face, throat, chest and waist.

In another incident at Tejgaon yesterday, a crane operator died as the base of the crane he was working on split apart.

Move to request

"The news is completely false and question does not arise at all to write any letter to any country to withdraw their envoys. No such meeting of policymakers was held as reported in newspapers," a high official of the PMO told The Daily Star yesterday.

The PMO is rather investigating who might be behind spreading such false news to the press, he said adding that it would have been wise of the newspapers before carrying such a sensitive item to check with the concerned authorities of the PMO and the foreign minister on the matter.

Another reliable source at the PMO said they had already come to know that an official of the Prime Minister's Press Wing briefed a few reporters on Wednesday, but nobody knows who asked the press to "feed" such false and harmful news.

Meanwhile, talking to The Daily Star yesterday several policymakers of the ruling BNP said they knew nothing about such a meeting taking place.

Top officials of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs also expressed surprise over the issue and said they checked the authenticity of the report with the concerned government authorities, but found it baseless.

Loan recovery

cases, the loan recovery has been stumbling as most of the private defaulters obtained High Court injunctions against the bank's actions.

Side by side, the government defaulter organisations have been deliberately going slow in paying back their loans.

As a result, the bank could recover only Tk 5 lakh from the private defaulters and Tk 37 lakh from the government entities last year.

Among the government defaulters, Bangladesh Textile Mills Corporation accounts for Tk 134 crore, followed by Khulna Newsprint Mills (Tk 74 crore) and Dockyard and Engineering Works (Tk 30 crore).

"We regularly remind them to pay back the loans," said a Sonali Bank official. "But there has been no progress."

A finance ministry official said the government is pursuing reforms in the Nationalised Commercial Banks (NCBs) like Sonali. "Under the reforms, we will take steps to pay back the loans defaulted by government entities."

He said the government is considering a plan to release bonds in the market to raise money from the public and use that to settle the default loan issue.

An official list of private defaulters of Sonali Bank puts Saleh Carpet as the top private defaulter (Tk 76 crore), followed by Lina Textiles (Tk 67 crore) and Deshma Shoe Industries (Tk 60 crore). Then come Sonali Cotton Mills (Tk 53 crore), Globe Metal Complex (Tk 50 crore), Dhaka Vegetable Oil Industries (Tk 50 crore), Zarina Carpet Mills (Tk 50 crore) and Riverside Leather and Foot Industries Ltd (Tk 28 crore).

AL won't go to polls

"We want to make it clear that Awami League will not participate in any 'stage-managed election' and will resist government attempt to hold election without reforms in the caretaker government system and the Election Commission," said AL General Secretary Abdul Jalil.

He was addressing a discussion organised to mark the 86th birth anniversary of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman. The discussion held in front of Bangabandhu Bhaban in Dhanmondi was presided over by AL Presidium Member Zillur Rahman.

Jalil said that besides the reforms, it must be ensured that the next chief election commissioner and other commissioners are acceptable to all.

The ruling BNP-Jamaat government is planning to hold any election with AL on the sidelines either.

AL Presidium Member Amir Hossain taking part in the discussion said that Khaleda Zia in the past did not want to accept the caretaker government system, but eventually had to give in, and she would again have to meet the opposition demand.

He said that the government has extended the retirement age of justice so that they can have a person loyal to BNP as the head of the interim government.

Suranjit Sengupta said, "BNP and Jamaat are scared of reforms as they already know that people will reject them in the next elections for their sheer failure to deliver."

AL leaders Motia Chowdhury, Mohammad Nasim, Mohammad Hanif and Nurul Islam, co-ordinator of the Left 11-Party alliance, spoke at the discussion.
