Strangers from all different walks of life: a limo driver escorting a movie star, parents with a young son, a cop transporting a convict, a prostitute, a young couple, and a motel manager are caught up in a nasty rainstorm. Why they're caught up is that they're stuck at a motel in desolate Nevada. But soon they realise they may be at the motel for a reason when one by one, people start getting killed off. As tensions flare and fingers are pointed, they have to get to the bottom of why they're there. While in an undisclosed location, a psychiatrist is trying to prove the innocence of a man accused of murder in an eleventh hour trial. How these two scenarios are related can only be found in Identity.

With the help of the streetwise Max, Welles relentlessly follows a bizarre trail of evidence to determine the fate of a complete stranger. As his work turns into obsession, he drifts farther and farther away from his wife, family and simple life as a small-town private eye.

Books

The Flower Maiden and Other StoriesFairy Tales from Bangladesh*

Runa Khan Marre

Price: Tk. 175.00

Like other Bengali children, the writer Runa Khan Marre heard fairy tales from her old nannies and other household storytellers. Now she has compiled these stories in a simplified English translation for other children. Many of the tales are common to both Bangladesh and West Bengal. Some of them may be found in Thakur ma's Jhuli compiled by DM Majumdar. Runa Khan Marre's versions are slightly different, being filtered through the several retellings that these stories have undergone.

Songs of TagorePhilosophy, Selected Translations, Paintings*

Muhammad Anisur Rahman

Price: Tk. 395.00

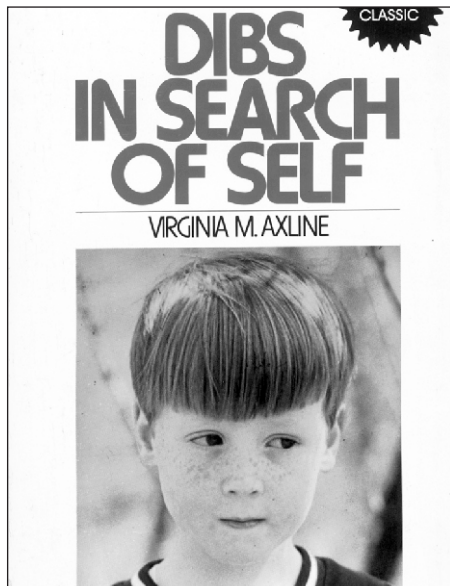

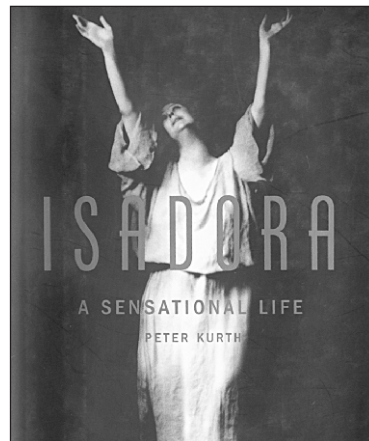

This book has emerged from the author's attempts to translate songs of Rabindranath Tagore for non-Bengali listeners and members of singing groups that the author has directed, and for participants in international seminars and workshops where songs have been exchanged as a cultural dialogue between nationalities in-between intellectual exchanges. The author discusses the place of song in Tagore's philosophy; as a pathway and communication as the poet saw it between the human and the Divine. The book also presents selections of paintings of a group of artists who have joined in a companion project to do paintings on songs of their choice from those presented in this book and have presented them in an exhibition at Dhaka in August 1999.

IsadoraA Sensational Life*

Peter Kurth

Price: Tk. 2700.00

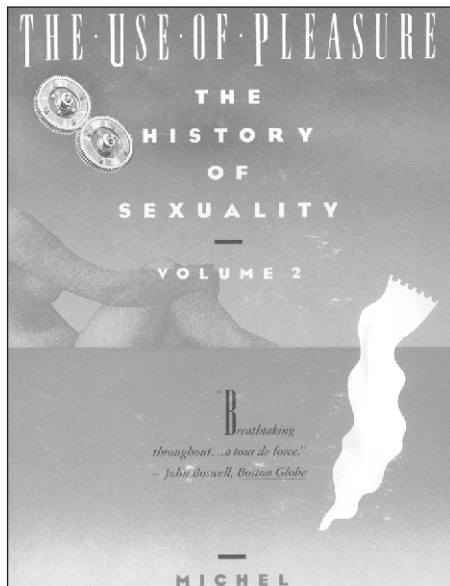

Isadora Duncan, the greatest pioneer of modern dance, "arrived like a glorious bounding Minerva in the midst of a cautious corseted decade," said Janet Flanner in The New Yorker (1927), delivering an "electric shock" to Western culture. Always dazzling, always fabulous, Isadora was the personification of flair, and she was anything but ordinary. Her scandalous behaviour, protofeminism, global celebrity, revolutionary politics, and artistic ground breaking all feel quite modern, yet her public life was played out between the Mauve Decade and the Roaring Twenties. Never before has Isadora Duncan's life been so engagingly explored. Acclaimed biographer Peter Kurth recounts this sensational life filled with lavish love affairs, artistic zeal, marvellous performances, and personal tragedies.

Muslim Revolutionaries and the British

1914-1919

K Ali Afzal

Price: Tk. 325.00

The Muslim revolutionaries and the British is an account of an undercover movement of the Muslims to overthrow the British Indian Empire. It relates to the period from August 1914 to September 1939. The earliest political movement for the liberation of the Indo-Pakistan subcontinent was started by the Muslim Revolutionaries in the first quarter of the nineteenth century. To suppress it the Bengal Regulation III of 1818 was passed which enabled the British rulers to detain a person without trial during peace time. But neither this Regulation, nor the State Trials at Malda, at Rajshahi and at other places in the third quarter of that century could exterminate the Muslim anarchists. Several military expeditions were sent to destroy the 'rebel camps' of the revolutionaries who had established settlements in the 'No Man's Land' beyond the British India's North-West Frontier. But these expeditions failed to crush the movement.

Gaban: The Stolen Jewels

Premchand

Translated by Christopher R King

Ram Nath the morally weak but physically charming son of a poor but honest government clerk in Allahabad, marries the beautiful Jalpa, whose passion for jewellery involves him increasingly complex financial and personal relationship, eventually leading to his apparent disgrace, and his flight from home. Shocked into the renunciation of all her finery, Jalpa discovers Ram Nath whereabouts, only to learn that he has become the willing tool of the culcutta police, who are bent on implicating innocent people to successfully conclude as unsolved robbery case. Her courageous appeals to his better nature finally bring about his redemption and their reunion. Gaban give us fascinating glimpse of north Indian society, and especially the authors own kayasth community. The vobal also serves to put forth his own deeply-held views of the ills of the society.

Directed by Alfonso Cuarón

Cast: Ana López Mercado, Diego Luna,

Gael García Bernal, Nathan Grinberg,

Verónica Langer, María Aura

Abandoned by their girlfriends for the summer, teenagers Tenoch and Julio meet the older Luisa at a wedding. Trying to be impressive, the friends tell Luisa they are headed on a road trip to a beautiful, secret beach called Boca del Cielo. Intrigued with their story and desperate to escape, Luisa asks if she can join them on their trip. Soon the three are headed out of Mexico City, making their way toward the fictional destination. Along the way, seduction, argument and the contrast of the trio against the harsh realities of the surrounding poverty ensue.

From Hell (2001)

Directed by Albert Hughes &amp; Allen Hughes

Cast: Johnny Depp, Heather Graham, Ian

Holm, Robbie Coltrane, Ian Richardson,

Katrin Cartlidge, Terence Harvey

Allen and Albert Hugheses movie From Hell is a portrayal of the infamous Jack the Ripper case set in London of 1888 starring Johnny Depp, Heather Graham, and Robbie Coltrane. The notorious Jack the Ripper has been running amuck in the Whitechapel district murdering and dissecting prostitutes. Scotland Yard Inspector Fred Abberline, aided by his partner, Peter Godley, are on the case to figure out who this serial killer is and why he is killing these women in such a brutal manner.

Two Brothers (2004)

Directed by Jean-Jacques Annaud

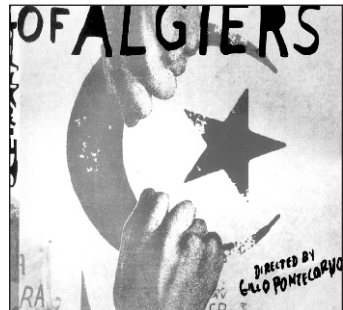

Cast: Guy Pearce, Jean-Claude

Dreyfus, Freddie Highmore, Philippine

Leroy-Beaulieu

Price: Tk. 120.00

Set not so long ago in a distant land, the film follows the adventures of twin tiger cubs—one shy and gentle, the other bold and fierce—who are born among the temple ruins of an exotic jungle. However, on a fateful day, the brothers are separated by fate. The bold brother is sold off to a circus, where homesickness and living in a cage rob him of his spirit.

Battaglia di Algeri, La (1965)

Directed by Gillo Pontecorvo

Cast: Brahim Haggiag, Jean Martin,

Yacef Saadi, Ugo Paletti, Fusia El Kader

A film commissioned by the Algerian government that shows the Algerian revolution from both sides. The French foreign legion has left Vietnam in defeat and has something to prove. The Algerians are seeking independence. The two clash. The torture used by the French is contrasted with the Algerian's use of bombs in soda shops. A look at war as a nasty thing that harms and sullies everyone who participates in it.
