A suicide car bomber killed 15 traffic policemen yesterday outside the unit's headquarters in the northern Kurdish city of Irbil while eight other policemen were killed in Baghdad fighting, police and hospital officials said.

Iraq's insurgency appeared unfazed by two massive US-Iraqi military offensives against militant smuggling routes and training centres west and north of Baghdad, mounting attacks that have killed at least 73 in the past two days including 28 people yesterday.

A roadside bomb also killed a US soldier on patrol near Tal Afar, 135km east of the Syrian border, the
