one-dayers that there is no alternative to hard work at this level. There is a gulf of difference between domestic and international circuit," a soft-spoken Rasel told at the team's Taj Samudra Hotel over breakfast on Saturday.

"Accuracy is very important. I did not struggle to adjust to the conditions here, which is very familiar to me. But I was able to move the ball more in the first match than the second one because of the wicket. I stuck to the basics and tried to land the ball in the right areas," said Rasel, who took 2-42 on debut and captured 1-49 in the second match.

Rasel, who made his domestic cricket debut for Abahani and played for Biman, learned the tricks from his Khulna Division teammate and skipper Monjurul Islam, another left-arm pacer who has lost his place in the national side.

His international wicket was his idol Chaminda Vaas, Sri Lanka's leading pace bowler.

"I could have sent back Upul Tharanga had he not been dropped at slip early (at the Sinhalese Cricket Club ground). But I was very pleased to dismiss Vaas for my maiden one-day wicket. I want to have a chat with him about reverse swing and how to develop a stockball, which swings in to the right-handers," said the eldest of two brothers and a sister, whose career best first class figure is 8-48 against Barisal and best in a match is 11 wickets against Dhaka.

"I was not bowling for wickets actually. I think I bowled well but the Sri Lankan players have more experience. They played better and you cannot restrict shots from a guy like Sanath Jayasuriya. They never miss a loose ball, which is the main difference between us and them. Jayasuriya even can smack a good ball. That is why I have to bowl at the right spot. "Dav (Whatmore) told me that the Lankans are very strong square of the wicket. So I was bowling on the off-middle line. Still, I got hit when the ball swung a bit."

Bashar returns to see sick mum

SPORTS REPORTER

Bangladesh captain Habibul Bashar will return home after the third and final one-dayer against Sri Lanka on Sunday to be by his ailing mother.

Bashar's mother Rizia Begum, 60, suffered a heart attack a couple of days ago in Kushtia. She is now being treated at the NICVD (National Institute for Cardio Vascular Diseases).

She is expected to undergo an angiogram on Monday and Bashar was expected to be with her at the time.

The 32-year-old was granted compassionate leave for a week and is expected to re-join the team before the first Test start on September 12.

Farashganj win by a whisker

SPORTS REPORTER

A first-half strike by Walid helped Farashganj Sporting Club get away with a solitary goal victory over relegation-bound Youngmens Club in the Premier Bank Premier Division Football League at the Bangabandhu National Stadium yesterday.

The win pushed the old city club's collection to 23 points from 17 matches to remain in the sixth position while Youngmens were glued to 12 points from same number of outings.

Walid netted the all-important goal in the 39th minute when he guided a Felix shot into the net from a handshake distance.

Farashganj had recorded a 2-1 victory in the first-leg match against the same opponents.

Her biggest match

US OPEN

REUTERS, New York

With more than a billion people at home in India following her every move at the US Open, Sania Mirza knows what it is like to carry the weight of expectation on her shoulders.

Having become the first Indian woman to reach the fourth round of a Grand Slam event, the 18-year-old has the chance to make an even bigger name for herself on Sunday when she takes on top seed Maria Sharapova of Russia.

"I don't think I'll be intimidated but, you know, it's obviously a very big match for me," said Mirza, who has never met Sharapova on or off the court.

"I have nothing to lose if I'm going to play her. There's obviously no pressure on me. I don't think a lot of people expect me to win."

Mirza hit the headlines in January when she reached the third round of the Australian Open, losing to eventual champion Serena Williams.

"I think when I played Serena in Australia I was a bit nervous, to be honest," she said.

"Actually, that was the beginning of everything to happen. It was just that I woke up and I couldn't sleep the night before because I was going to play her."

Having ended last year ranked 206, Mirza arrived at Flushing Meadows as the world number 42 thanks to a run of form which included winning her first WTA Tour title in her home town of Hyderabad.

"I guess I'm just playing the best tennis I ever have," she said.

"I worked on a few weaknesses that I thought I had, especially my fitness. I was injured for about almost three months this year. Apart from that I think I've had a great year."

Despite her huge popularity, Mirza has been criticised by some people in India for baring flesh in her tennis gear.

The 18-year-old said she was no different to anyone else.

"No Muslim is perfect and no human being is perfect," she said.

"I guess I'm not dressing the way Islam states but I guess we all make mistakes and that's why Islam has forgiveness."

Injury dogged Tigers

Cricket

AL MUSABBIR SADI from Colombo

Since Bangladesh landed in Sri Lanka, it has been a tale of injuries. Leading fast bowler Mashrafee-bin Mortaza could bowl only six deliveries before breaking down in the Tigers' lone practice match. Another paceman Nazmul Hossain was carried off the ground during the second one-dayer after suffering cramp.

The latest and surely not the least in the long list of injury is top-order batsman Rajin Saleh.

While there was good news for Mashrafee, Rajin's tour was actually over before it began after a fracture was detected in his lower back.

A CT scan done on Thursday confirmed that the former Bangladesh vice-captain has a fracture in his first lumbar vertebrae.

Rajin, who scored 53 in the practice game, was feeling bad.

"It's disappointing. I picked up an injury during our victory against India (in December, 2004). It seemed nothing serious as I continued to play. I felt pain during fielding but a massage from the physio was enough to keep me going. I never thought it would be so serious," Rajin said.

He is expected to leave the Sri Lankan capital in the early hours of Monday at the end of the one-day series along with Khaled Mahmud, Abdur Razzak and Nazmul Hossain.

Bangladesh cricket team's physio Paul Close informed on Saturday that the Sylhet batsman, who is an excellent fielder as well, might have been carrying an old injury that only got worse last week.

"He complained about that after arriving in Sri Lanka. The scan can
