

Commuters who have to endure the horrific suffering of travelling by local buses mainly for monetary reasons are not the lone sufferers though. Those who have the means to spend some extra money to travel by rickshaw or auto-rickshaw or cab have their own set of problems.

all the way desperately waiting for a chance to scramble for a seat left vacant by a passenger.

Commuting troubles are a universal phenomenon that cut across all classes of commuters. Commuters who have to endure the horrific suffering of travelling by local buses mainly for monetary reasons are not the lone sufferers though. Those who have the means to spend some extra money to travel by rickshaw or auto-rickshaw or cab have their own set of problems.

One common problem with any of these choices is that they are seldom available when you need them the most, especially during office hours. Mechanical engineer Saidul Islam, who works for Kleanheat Gas, usually travels by autorickshaw or cab to his workplace at Banani from Gopibagh. "When I come out in the street at around 8.15 or 8.20 in the morning, there is no

