Home asks law ministry to speed up penning law against terrorism STAFF CORRESPONDENT

In the wake of the continued bomb attacks by Islamist militants, the home ministry in a letter yesterday urged the law ministry to speed up the drafting of a law to contain terrorism.

The home ministry proposed the anti-terrorism legislation in line with similar laws that are in force in different countries including the USA, UK, Malaysia, Indonesia, Pakistan and India. The proposal pointed out the changed aspects of terrorist activities in the country and underlined the necessity of crafting a new law providing for stringent punishments including the capital one for such crimes.

The home ministry prepared the proposal in consultation with a panel of jurists and sent it to the Prime Minister's Office (PMO). The PMO in turn forwarded the proposal to the law ministry last July to pen the law. But four months on, the home ministry is yet to hear anything from the law ministry about it, home ministry sources said.
