

star city in frame

DHAKA SUNDAY JANUARY 8, 2006

AN AERIAL VIEW OF DHAKA CITY

FROM the architectural genius of the Jatiya Sangsad Bhaban by Louis I Kahn, the Lalbagh Fort of the Mughal era, the concrete elevated structure of the Khilgaon Flyover and the National Mausoleum, down to the polluted and encroached waters of the Buriganga, the photographer's eye did not miss the details of the sites.

Profile

Md. Lutfar Rahman Binu

Binu started his photojournalistic career in 1976 and worked for different dailies for more than a decade. He achieved many awards and scholarships during his career. In 1986 he received training from Press Institute of Bangladesh and in 1988 he went to Singapore under AMIC scholarship. He is presently the personal photographer of the prime minister of Bangladesh.