Street children's photography exhibition begins tomorrow

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

For the first time, six street children are going to exhibit their own photography works titled 'Visible' at the National Museum in the city tomorrow.

The exhibition organised by Population Services and Training Centre (PSTC) and supported by Australian Agency for International Development (AusAID) and Australian Youth Ambassadors for Development (AYAD) is aimed at sensitising people to the fact that street children can do creative works if they are given proper opportunity.

Australian High Commissioner H E Douglas Foskett will open the exhibition at 3:30pm.

Forty-five photographs taken by Saddam, Polly, Razu, Lovely, Tariqul and Milon, who got support and training from PSTC, will be put on display.

The exhibition will continue till February 4.

Prof Milon Bikash Paul, executive director of PSTC, speaks at a press conference on street children's photography exhibition at the National Museum in the city yesterday.

Increase trade to make relation meaningful

PM urges Singaporean envoy

UNB, Dhaka

Prime Minister Khaleda Zia yesterday gave importance on turning the existing excellent relations between Bangladesh and Singapore into meaningful ties through increasing trade and commerce.

She expressed the view when Singaporean High Commissioner to Bangladesh Verghese Mathews made a courtesy call on her at the PMO. The Singaporean envoy supported her view.

Verghese Mathews appreciated Bangladesh's success in various fields, particularly microcredit and women empowerment, saying the achievements have also been lauded at different regional and international forums.

Khaleda told the High Commissioner that late President Ziaur Rahman began the process of women empowerment through various pragmatic steps and activities.

Meanwhile, Foreign Minister M Morshed Khan called for larger investment by Singapore in Bangladesh to offset the huge trade gap between the two countries.

He said this when Verghese Mathews met him at his office.

He said Bangladesh and Singapore are friendly countries and have commonalities on many regional and international issues.

Both of them stressed on organising a single country Bangladesh trade fair in Singapore to display Bangladeshi products for business promotion. They also laid importance on exchanging visits at various levels.

The Prime Minister proposed for imparting training to Bangladesh port officials at Singapore Port Institute. The envoy said he will discuss about it with the concerned authorities in the days to come.

KIBRIA MURDER

UN probe demanded

Asma Kibria, wife of slain former finance minister Shah AMS Kibria, yesterday demanded United Nations' (UN) investigation into the Kibria murder case.

"We are now seeking UN's interference for a proper investigation into the case as the government investigation did not bring the real killers to justice," she said while addressing a human chain organised under the 'Blue for Peace' programme initiated by the Kibria family at Panthapath in the city.

The UN should come forward to carry out an investigation into the Kibria murder case considering that he served under the UN with the status of Under-Secretary-General, said Asma Kibria.

"The government is still reluctant to bring the real killers of Kibria into justice despite passing of almost one year since the incident," she alleged.

Prof AAMS Arefin Siddique, former president of Dhaka University Teachers' Association, said lives of the general people including the lawmakers like Kibria are not safe under the present government.
