Tigers serve Australia second day stunner

SPORTS REPORTER

Bangladesh continued to surprise Australia and the world audience alike with yet another dream day's cricket at the Fatullah Stadium on Monday.

After putting up 427, their second highest score in the five-day game, the tall-up Tigers got the Australians in all sorts of trouble on the second day of the first Test as the tourists were reduced to 145 for six.

With Adam Gilchrist, the only recognised batsman at the crease, and Brett Lee at the other end, the world champions were fighting to score another 83 runs to avoid the ignominy of following-on against the lowest-ranked team.

There were discussions how the vaunted Australian batting line-up response after Bangladesh, resuming the day on 355 for five, added 72 runs to their overnight total before being bowled out half-an-hour afterlunch.

Chasing a total of 427, the going got tough for the Australians as they floundered on a wicket that remained slow and low. After Bangladesh's new-ball pair Mashrafee Bin Mortuza and Shahadat Hossain had drawn the first blood, left-arm spinners Mohammad Rafique and Enamul Haque got Ricky Ponting's men on the ropes, evenly sharing four wickets.

When the world-class Aussies struggled on the slow pitch, the Mashrafee-Shahadat pair started the operation with a big heart to stun their mighty opponents.

FM defends appointing US lobbyist

DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT

The government yesterday strongly defended the appointment of a US lobbyist to counter alleged adverse campaigns that try to portray Bangladesh as a fundamentalist state influenced by the Taliban and Al Qaeda.

Talking to a group of reporters at his office, Foreign Minister M Moshed Khan admitted that the government had appointed a lobbyist firm 'Washington Group' in line with US political culture to pursue Bangladesh's interest in the US administration and the Capitol Hill.

He said the lobbyist firm was appointed on a temporary basis with a monthly retainer of $45,000 by slashing some expenditure in Bangladesh Mission in Washington that includes closing down the post of the press minister.

Justifying the appointment of a

Traders protest JCD attack, keep shops closed

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Tension mounted in and around Chandrima Super Market in the city yesterday as a big traders' protest rally was held near it and the market was kept closed and heavily guarded fearing further attacks by students allegedly belonging to Dhaka College unit of Jatiyatabdhi Chhatra Dal (JCD) who clashed with traders on Sunday night, leaving about 50 injured.

Traders at the market and the students had a series of clashes for over four hours from about 9:30pm, and police fired tear gas shells to bring the situation under control.

Badly burnt bodies of men, women and children had been dumped in the back of trucks, police inspector Rakesh Tomar told AFP, predicting the death toll could rise much higher.

Television footage showed blackened steel frames were all that remained of the air-conditioned tents that had been erected at the fair.

Plumes of thick black smoke billowed into the air as rescue workers ferried casualties to Meenut district hospital.

"We have so far removed 45 bodies to the mortuary," district police chief Raj Kumar Vishwakarma told Star news television by telephone.

Paramilitary troops backed firefighters and police tackling the massive fire, he said.

The early evening blaze destroyed three giant exhibition tents at the Brand India Fair at the city's Victoria Park where companies displayed products for throngs of shoppers.

"The fire has been brought under control," Yaqoob Qureshi, state minister for minority welfare, told NDTV.

"The tents had a capacity for 2000-2500 people. It is difficult to say how many people were there," Qureshi added.
