"Developing quality photographers and establishing a network between renowned and amateur photographers is the goal which NSUPC started off," Shahriar Iqbal Raj, faculty member of the Architecture Department is currently the faculty advisor of the club.

NSUPC works at different levels with students to develop the skills and knowledge. They organise a basic workshop, an advanced workshop and a local fieldtrip for the benefit of the learners on a regular basis. Klikz a photographic competition for NSUers is held at least twice a semester. The club's annual activities are the National and International fieldtrips, Intra NSU Photography Exhibitions and the biggest event ever, the International Inter University Photography Exhibition (IIUPE), which has creations from students and photographers from all over the world.

Some of the famous photographers that the club has worked with are David Barikder, Anwar Hossain, Nasir Ali Mamun, Kiron, GMB Akash and Abir Abdullah.

The latest project that NSUPC is working on is a set of ten postcards showing the beauty of Bangladesh. "It is aimed at bringing to life the culture, tradition, the rich heritage and the monumental history of Bangladesh," explains Miran. "This collection of photographs will tell just about any stranger all about the country, starting from the festivals celebrated, lifestyles followed and the colours that spring around every season."

"The members make the best use of the little time which is left after a hard day's work," says Apurbo, a senior member of the club who recently graduated from the BBA department. "For us, this place is more like a family."
