

Rajib Saha

Hitoishi Chakma

Rajib Saha

Many students of college and university have the passion to take photographs of people and places. Though they are amateur photographers having no intention of taking it up as a profession, they often come up with brilliant shots taken by their regular cameras. Here are some photos taken by students we believe will please the eyes of our readers.