Cartoon Contest Against Corruption

Read Star Insight a fortnightly publication of The Daily Star

ANNOUNCEMENT

In order to raise public awareness against corruption, Star Insight, a fortnightly publication of The Daily Star (in association with district level The Daily Star Readers Clubs) is holding a cartoon contest - we invite you to participate in this cartoon contest to raise nationwide awareness. This contest is open to all under the age of 40. You can draw cartoons on any forms of corruption . You are free to choose the medium of the work. A jury panel will select ten winners who will be given attractive prizes and financial awards. The best works will be displayed regionally through the Readers Club. The minimum size for cartoons is A4. Cartoons should be done in colour or black and white. Please send your contributions by 30th April, 2007 to:
