

These are satellite photos of some important structures and locations on earth. Can you recognise some of them?
Answers will be given next week