Jalil pledges to defend sued AL men

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Awami League (AL) General Secretary Abdul Jalil yesterday said his party will take all necessary legal steps to defend party workers if the police bring charges against them for gathering to greet Sheikh Hasina.

He made the comment while talking to journalists at his office in Motijheel as police started filing cases against several thousand people who gathered to cheer the AL chief on her homecoming on May 07. The cases were filed for breaching state of emergency restrictions.

Abdul Jalil told journalists that the AL had not organised any reception programme for the party chief. Rather, the public had welcomed her spontaneously.

Sonadia best place for deep-sea port

Finds Japanese firm's survey

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A Japanese consultant firm in its first phase survey report submitted to the Ministry of Shipping yesterday recommended Sonadia Island in Cox's Bazar district as the most suitable place for setting up a deep-sea port in the country.

The Japanese firm, Pacific Consultant International, also made a presentation about the findings of the site selection survey. Kutubdia Channel in the same district was mentioned as the second most suitable place in the recommendations for the multi-billion dollar port

The Sonadia Island, located between Cox's Bazar town and Moheshkhali Island in the Bay of Bengal, is isolated from the mainland by a river and it could be connected with bridges and tunnels, and road and railway lines could also be established for cargo carrying, the report said.

The recommendations would be sent to the Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs for final approval, sources said.

The deep-sea port will have 58 jetties with a total of 11-kilometre length.

The shipping ministry has formed a ten-member committee to examine the Japanese firm's report and finalise the recommendation in next 15 days. The committee includes representatives from the private sector.

There will be hardly any need to evict people as the place is now almost a barren land where only a few thousand fishermen go to live during peak season of fishing in the

ACC files cases against Mamun, Hafiz

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Anti-Corruption Commission (ACC) filed two graft cases against controversial businessman Giasuddin Al Mamun, his elder brother and former BNP lawmaker Hafiz Ibrahim and their wives on Tuesday night.

Assistant Director of the ACC, Mohammad Ibrahim, filed the cases with Cantonment and Gulshan police stations.

In the First Information Report (FIR) filed against Mamun and his wife Shahina Yasmin with Cantonment Police Station, the ACC assistant director said that Mamun with the connivance of his wife amassed movable and immovable properties worth over Tk 62.21 crore illegally.

The case was filed under Section 27 (1) of the ACC Act 2004, Section

Passport offices live in ancient age

SHARIFUL ISLAM

When developed countries have already introduced biometric passports, citizens of Bangladesh continue to carry passports filled out manually and prepared with primitive technologies.

Besides, people seeking passports have been facing untold ordeals as the severely understaffed Directorate of Immigration and Passport (DIP) and 15 passport offices across the country have been failing to cope with the growing demand for passports everyday due to absence of modern technologies.

Introduction of modern technologies will also lead to curbing of corruption in the passport offices, experts said.

Bangladesh (TIB) study in October last year termed having a passport a citizen's right, and suggested elimination of bureaucratic tangles, modernisation of the department with technologies, an enhanced budget and trained manpower to curb corruption and harassment in the process of issuing passports.

The report also revealed that the police, middlemen and a section of government officials illegally collect Tk 21 crore a year from citizens as a tremendous level of corruption has gripped the process of issuing passports.

According to the organisational charter of duties, a passport writer
