

Human beings love to talk. They have been talking since oral sounds were given meaning by some wise people in the times now lost in antiquity. In the past, people used to talk to express important thoughts. Today, it appears, most people most of the time talk to express meaningless thoughts. Some do not even have any thoughts. These are thoughtless talks! And how most of those thoughtless talks get exchanged along with some thoughtful ones? Obviously through that tiny machine we so love to have! Yes, the tiny winy cell phone! Imagine life without one!

Last week we have secretly observed why and how the present genre has turned into a talkative genre!! The facts we collected are amazing and we present them this week for you. Enjoy reading, not talking!
