Anny sued
for extortion
STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Former BNP lawmaker Shahiduddin Chowdhury Anny was sued on Monday night for extorting money from a dredging firm.

Shamsul Haque, senior manager of Abdul Monem Limited, filed the case with Shahbagh Police Station in the capital.

According to the complainant, Anny obstructed the company from contesting in bids for four projects on dredging of a river in 2005 and demanded Tk 50 lakh in exchange for allowing it to submit tenders for the bids.

Shamsul said they gave Tk 25

TERMINATING STUDY ON DEEP-SEA PORT

Economic loss to be assessed

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The advisory committee on economic affairs yesterday directed the shipping ministry to assess the financial impact of the government's decision to terminate the techno-feasibility study on the country's first deep-sea port at Sonadia.

The committee in its July meeting decided to postpone the site selection process and the project's further activities as the government does not think that the project, which is scheduled to end in 2055 involving Tk 42000 crore, is viable.

"We directed the shipping ministry to see if there is any financial impact associated with the termination or continuation of the feasibility study," said Finance Adviser Mirza Azizul Islam who chaired the meeting.

The shipping ministry in the meeting, however, spoke in favour of going ahead with the study, saying there is no scope to postpone it.

It said the government will have to pay the consulting firm full contract fee if the feasibility study is terminated halfway.

The four-party alliance government initiated the deep-sea port plan in 2005 and appointed a Japanese consulting firm, Pacific

City bogs down in tailbacks

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The traffic congestion in Dhaka city has become unbearable in the last couple of days -- even to the ones who had been accustomed to it as an everyday phenomenon.

The monsoon coupled with poor drainage system have worn out the road network in the city so badly that over ninety percent of the city roads turn hazardous for traffic even after a few millimetres of rainfall.

The sufferings of commuters worsened further as the road repair work of Dhaka City Corporation is being interrupted by heavy rainfall.

The road from Matsya Bhaban to Shahbagh was found clogged with hundreds of stationary vehicles yesterday. And the sight was almost the same everywhere in the city.

"The horrendous traffic jam of Dhaka stops everything but the clock. ...Would you believe that it took me 80 minutes to get to Banani Chairman Bari from Panthapath?" said a frustrated commuter, Koushik Ahmed.

From the foot over bridges at Farmgate and Shahbagh, bumper-to-bumper traffic was seen moving inch by inch on Kazi Nazrul Islam Avenue during the peak hours yesterday afternoon.

Roads around Gabtoli, Mohakhali and Sayedabad intercity bus terminals, major intersections at Jatrabari, Bijoy Sarani, Sonargaon Hotel, Bangla Motor and Hotel Sheraton, long stretch of Mirpur Road from Lalmatia to New Market, and most roads at Dhanmondi -- all were found choked up with vehicles.

No immediate relief, however, is likely to end the sufferings of the commuters and residents of the capital city as the government is only considering a long-term strategy to solve the congestion problem, said sources.

Dr Salehuddin, additional executive director of Dhaka Transport Coordination Board (DTCB), said, "The government is trying to resolve the crisis. ...We will start working on the 20-year-long Strategic Transport Plan (STP).

Home redefines political party

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The explanation of the meaning of a political party given by the home ministry in a gazette notification on Sunday contradicts with the definition in the constitution.

"To meet the objective of this circular, part of any political party will also be included as political party," said the home ministry gazette notification that amended the Emergency Power Rules relaxing the restrictions on indoor politics. It also fixed some conditions for holding party activities.

According to article 152(1) of the constitution, a political party includes a group or combination of persons who operate within or outside parliament under a

Laden taunts US on 9/11 anniversary

AFP, Washington

al-Qaeda chief Osama bin Laden eulogized one of the September 11 hijackers in a video released yesterday's sixth anniversary of the attacks that still traumatised the United States.

As Americans remembered the almost 3,000 people killed, attempted bomb attacks and security alerts kept the world on terrorist alert. A powerful bomb was disarmed in Ankara and German police launched a major operation at a US military base after receiving threats.

The al-Qaeda leader was seen in a still image on the new video in which he gives a commentary praising hijacker Walid al-Shehri, according to IntelCentre, a US-based monitoring group that obtained an early copy of the video.

In the audio, Bin Laden describes Al-Shehri as "a young man who personally penetrated

17 killed in Pak suicide blast

AFP, Peshawar

A suicide bomber blew himself up inside a minibus as police tried to arrest him in northwest Pakistan yesterday, killing 17 people including a policeman and a soldier, officials said.

The blast happened in Dera Ismail Khan, a remote town close to Pakistan's troubled tribal areas bordering Afghanistan where there have been several attacks blamed on pro-Taliban militants.

Pakistan has suffered a string of bombings since security forces raided the radical Red Mosque in Islamabad in July, piling pressure on President Pervez Musharraf as he clings to power ahead of elections.

"It was a suicide attack. Police started chasing him because he was acting suspiciously and he jumped into a minibus before blowing himself up," police chief Mohammad Khaliq told AFP.
