EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST

THE WORLD BANK

Technical, Environmental and Social Survey of Proposed Footover-bridges and Sidewalks in Dhaka

The World Bank is assisting the Government of Bangladesh in improving the pedestrian infrastructure in Dhaka, particularly in the context of reducing local air pollution exposure and the conflict between pedestrians and motorized traffic. One possible approach is to increase the number of footover-bridges (FOBs) and sidewalks, so as to improve the mobility of people and fluidity of traffic movement. In this context, the Dhaka City Corporation has developed a list of possible locations for the construction of FOBs and sidewalks. A technical, environmental and social survey of these possible locations needs to be undertaken.

The specific objectives of this survey are (i) to assess the list of locations proposed for FOBs and sidewalks from a needs, technical, environmental and social perspective with a view to prioritize, and (ii) to determine key technical, environmental and social aspects in each prioritized location, which are critical to their viability for both construction and operation.

The World Bank Office Dhaka (WBOD) is inviting expressions of interest from firms (consulting companies, educational institutions and any other organization) that have the capacity to plan, execute and deliver the above outlined survey assignment. It is important for those interested to have a great deal of familiarity with the city of Dhaka and have worked in similar assignments in the past.

The selection will be in accordance with the procedures set out in the World Bank's Guidelines on Selection and Employment of Consultants by World Bank Borrowers, 2006.

Expressions of Interest must be delivered to the address below latest by Sunday, September 30, 2007.

Vacancy Announcement

Financial Analyst

The World Bank Office, Dhaka

The World Bank's energy program in Bangladesh is significant and growing. Projects under supervision include a large rural electrification and renewable energy project, a guarantee attached to an independent power plant, and a technical assistance project supporting energy sector reform and preparation of new projects. The pipeline consists of a gas-to-power project (Siddhirganj) with gas and power components, an urban electricity distribution project (South Zone), a new IPP for which preparation of a partial risk guarantee is envisioned (Bibiyan), and follow-on investments in rural electrification and renewable energy. Investment operations and related capacity building in the natural gas sector are under discussion, and there is potential for energy sector budget support operations as well. Our clients are public and private sector companies active in Bangladesh's energy sector, and various government agencies and departments responsible for policymaking, regulation, and financing in the energy sector.

Overall, the Bank's assistance program in Bangladesh provides an average of about $1-billion in concessional debt and grants every year. The Bank's energy team, besides managing the portfolio of energy projects, also makes contributions to macroeconomic operations and analysis, emergency operations (such as flood relief), and analytic exercises (such as poverty assessments, and public expenditure reviews). The team also works closely with other parts of the World Bank Group, such as IFC, and other donors in providing targeted assistance to Bangladesh.

Duties and Responsibilities

The Bank is now seeking a Financial Analyst to join as part of the Dhaka-based team. This individual would:

- Undertake sector and project financial analysis
- Contribute to the operational and analytical work of the unit
- Track regional data related to the petroleum products, natural gas, and power sub-sectors with a view to acquire sound, hands on expertise in the field
- Provide cross-support to other Bank project teams when input on energy sector matters is needed
- Participate in the identification, analysis, preparation, supervision, monitoring, and evaluation of energy projects
- Mentor junior staff as required
- Provide regular reports to management on energy developments in Bangladesh
- Represent the department and the Bank as a whole at meetings, workshops, conferences, and other events as required
- Manage cross-sectoral teams comprising specialists in economics, engineering, financial management, social development, environment, procurement, etc.
- Provide advice to management and external clients on industry best practice
- Coordinate and sometimes conduct training exercises for internal and external clients

Further details of the post are available at www.worldbank.org/job. Qualified candidates should apply on-line referring to job # 71441 by October 13, 2007.
