

It's like an evening party that starts with a concert followed by a grand dinner and ends with a tense announcement segment. In fact it was a result episode where names of sixteen breaking teams were declared. Eight teams from Bengali IV and Eight teams from English IV were selected for the semifinal rounds. During this result episode, names of seven teams were declared according to their points in a decreasing order. But the eighth one took time which made every one very tensed as it would be the name of only one team from a bunch of giant teams and through announcing this name tournament said goodbye to all other teams except those elite eight.

In Bengali IV IBA A led the point table securing 15 points with clean sweep win on all the initial rounds while EWU B and UIU A followed them securing second and third positions. On the other hand in English IV IUT A secured 12 points again with a clean sweep all-round-win whereas NSU A and IUT B followed them staying at second and third position respectively.

Later, a young and enthusiastic band Dream Intervener performed during the tense 'break night' with their unplugged concert. With Ovik as the vocal and Shams, Robi, Saniad and Gourab forming the rest of the band, they performed different famous Bengali band songs. During the concert UU arranged a buffet Grand Dinner which brought a perfect Worlds feeling in a Bangladeshi debating tournament.

In the Bengali IV, East West University B won the first semifinal along with IBA A by beating University of Dhaka (GOD) B and Stamford University C. In the second semifinal Stamford University A and East West University A made it to the final leaving behind United International University A and Barisal Medical College A.

English IV semifinals were extremely competitive and it took one and half hour for the judges to decide on the winning teams after each of the debates. From the first semifinal, Islamic University of Technology A and Mastermind A moved to the final by defeating North South University A and North South University C. In the second semifinal Islamic University of Technology D and North South University D could make it to the final as they defeated Stamford University B and Islamic University of Technology B.

Grand Finale of this ten day long colorful event was held on 12 September 2007 at Uttara University NZ campus. Bengali IV Grand Final motion was "This house believes that economic growth is the solution to the climate change" (translated)
