HAJ FLIGHT CHAOS Biman, agencies cross swords

RASHIDUL HASAN

Biman Bangladesh Airlines and Hajj Agencies Association of Bangladesh (Haab) continue to point the finger at the other for the recurrent cancellation of hajj flights, putting the flights of a large number of hajj pilgrims in jeopardy.

Eighteen days into the hajj flights, Biman Bangladesh Airlines yesterday cancelled one of its extra hajj flights due to pilgrim shortage. The airline speculates that more flights might have to be cancelled unless the situation is improved immediately.

Amidst chaos in hajj flight operations this year, Biman arranged two extra hajj flights from the Saudi Civil Aviation Authority recently in addition to previously allocated 85 hajj flights to it.

Biman has been blaming Haab for not sending enough pilgrims to

BIRD FLU 5,600 chickens culled in Pabna

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Pabna

Over 5,600 chickens were culled and at least 2,650 eggs were destroyed at a poultry farm in Dolong in Chatmohar upazila in the district Friday night as they were infected with bird flu.

The district livestock department, in the presence of the local administration, carried out the culling after receiving confirmation that the chickens of that farm were infected with the disease.

Sources said that a number of chickens died of an unknown disease at the farm of Jewel Rana. He took the dead chicken to the local livestock office to find out what went wrong. The livestock office forwarded the samples to Dhaka Livestock Research Institute for diagnosis.

The district livestock office received confirmation from Dhaka Friday afternoon that the birds were suffering from bird flu prompting the district livestock office to cull the birds.

Benazir launches polls campaign

Sharif likely to hold talks with PPP chief tomorrow

AP, AFP, Peshawar/ Islamabad

Former prime minister Benazir Bhutto launched her election campaign in troubled northwestern Pakistan yesterday, a day after unveiling her party's platform despite calls from other opposition groups to boycott the January 8 vote.

Benazir travelled in a bullet-proof black Mercedes under police escort from the capital, Islamabad, to Peshawar where she appealed for support from ethnic Pashtuns predominant in the border region assailed by Islamic militancy.

She was greeted by hundreds of flag-waving supporters of her Pakistan People's Party who chanted "Long Live Benazir!"

"I ask our Pashtun brothers to come forward for peace. They have supported the Pakistan People's Party in the past and once again they must support the Pakistan People's Party," she said.

"The Pakistan People's Party will give them security, peace and employment and will bring development to their areas so their problems can be solved."

Meanwhile, Benazir and Nawaz Sharif will meet early next week to up a personal encounter only "if circumstances permit."

The meeting had been considered a last chance for Iran to give in to pressure from the five permanent UN Security Council nations and at least freeze if not dismantle its enrichment programme before the end of the month, ahead of a new effort by the five nations to find common language on a third set of UN sanctions.

Those endeavours were to be the focus of a meeting of the five nations plus Germany at a high-level gathering in Paris on Saturday.

Jalili had a different message.

"After five hours of meetings, I expected more, and therefore I am disappointed," he said. Unlike Jalili, he suggested no new meetings were planned, saying only the two men would talk on the telephone next month and would set

7TH NOVEMBER Delwar slates cancellation of public holiday

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

BNP Secretary General Khandaker Delwar Hossain yesterday expressed concern over the government decision of cancelling public holiday on the National Revolution and Solidarity Day on November 7.

In a statement, he said the government decision has hurt people's feelings and raised questions about the role of the caretaker government.

The BNP secretary general demanded that November 7 holiday be restored.

Delwar said the National Revolution and Solidarity Day is not meant for any particular group or party.

The significance of the day lies in overcoming a serious crisis in the country in 1975 through a "soldier-peasant uprising" that foiled a conspiracy against the nation, he added.

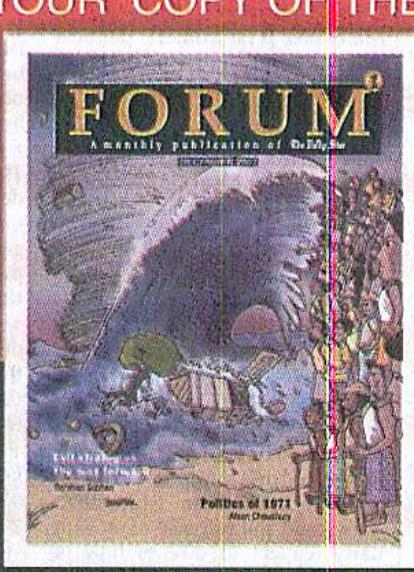

He urged the government to withdraw the decision in the interest of national unity.

Experts to revisit development at BIDS conference today

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A group of economists both from home and abroad will critically look at Bangladesh's development prospects when they meet at an international conference here today on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies (BIDS).

Dr J Faaland, who had been the first country representative of the World Bank in Bangladesh and is now at the Chr. Michelsen Institute (CMI), an independent centre for research on development in Norway, will review how Bangladesh has performed since he had been here.

In 1975, he had coauthored a book 'Bangladesh: The test case of development' where he wrote: "There is a path, as we have agreed, that Bangladesh could follow to reach the goal of a stable population and a standard of living offering little in luxury but enough in meeting the fundamental requirements of life to make existence more

FBCCI runs into more trouble Members at AGM for appointment of administrator

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

General members of the Federation of Bangladesh Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FBCCI) yesterday urged the government to appoint an 'administrator' to complete the biennial election of the apex trade body.

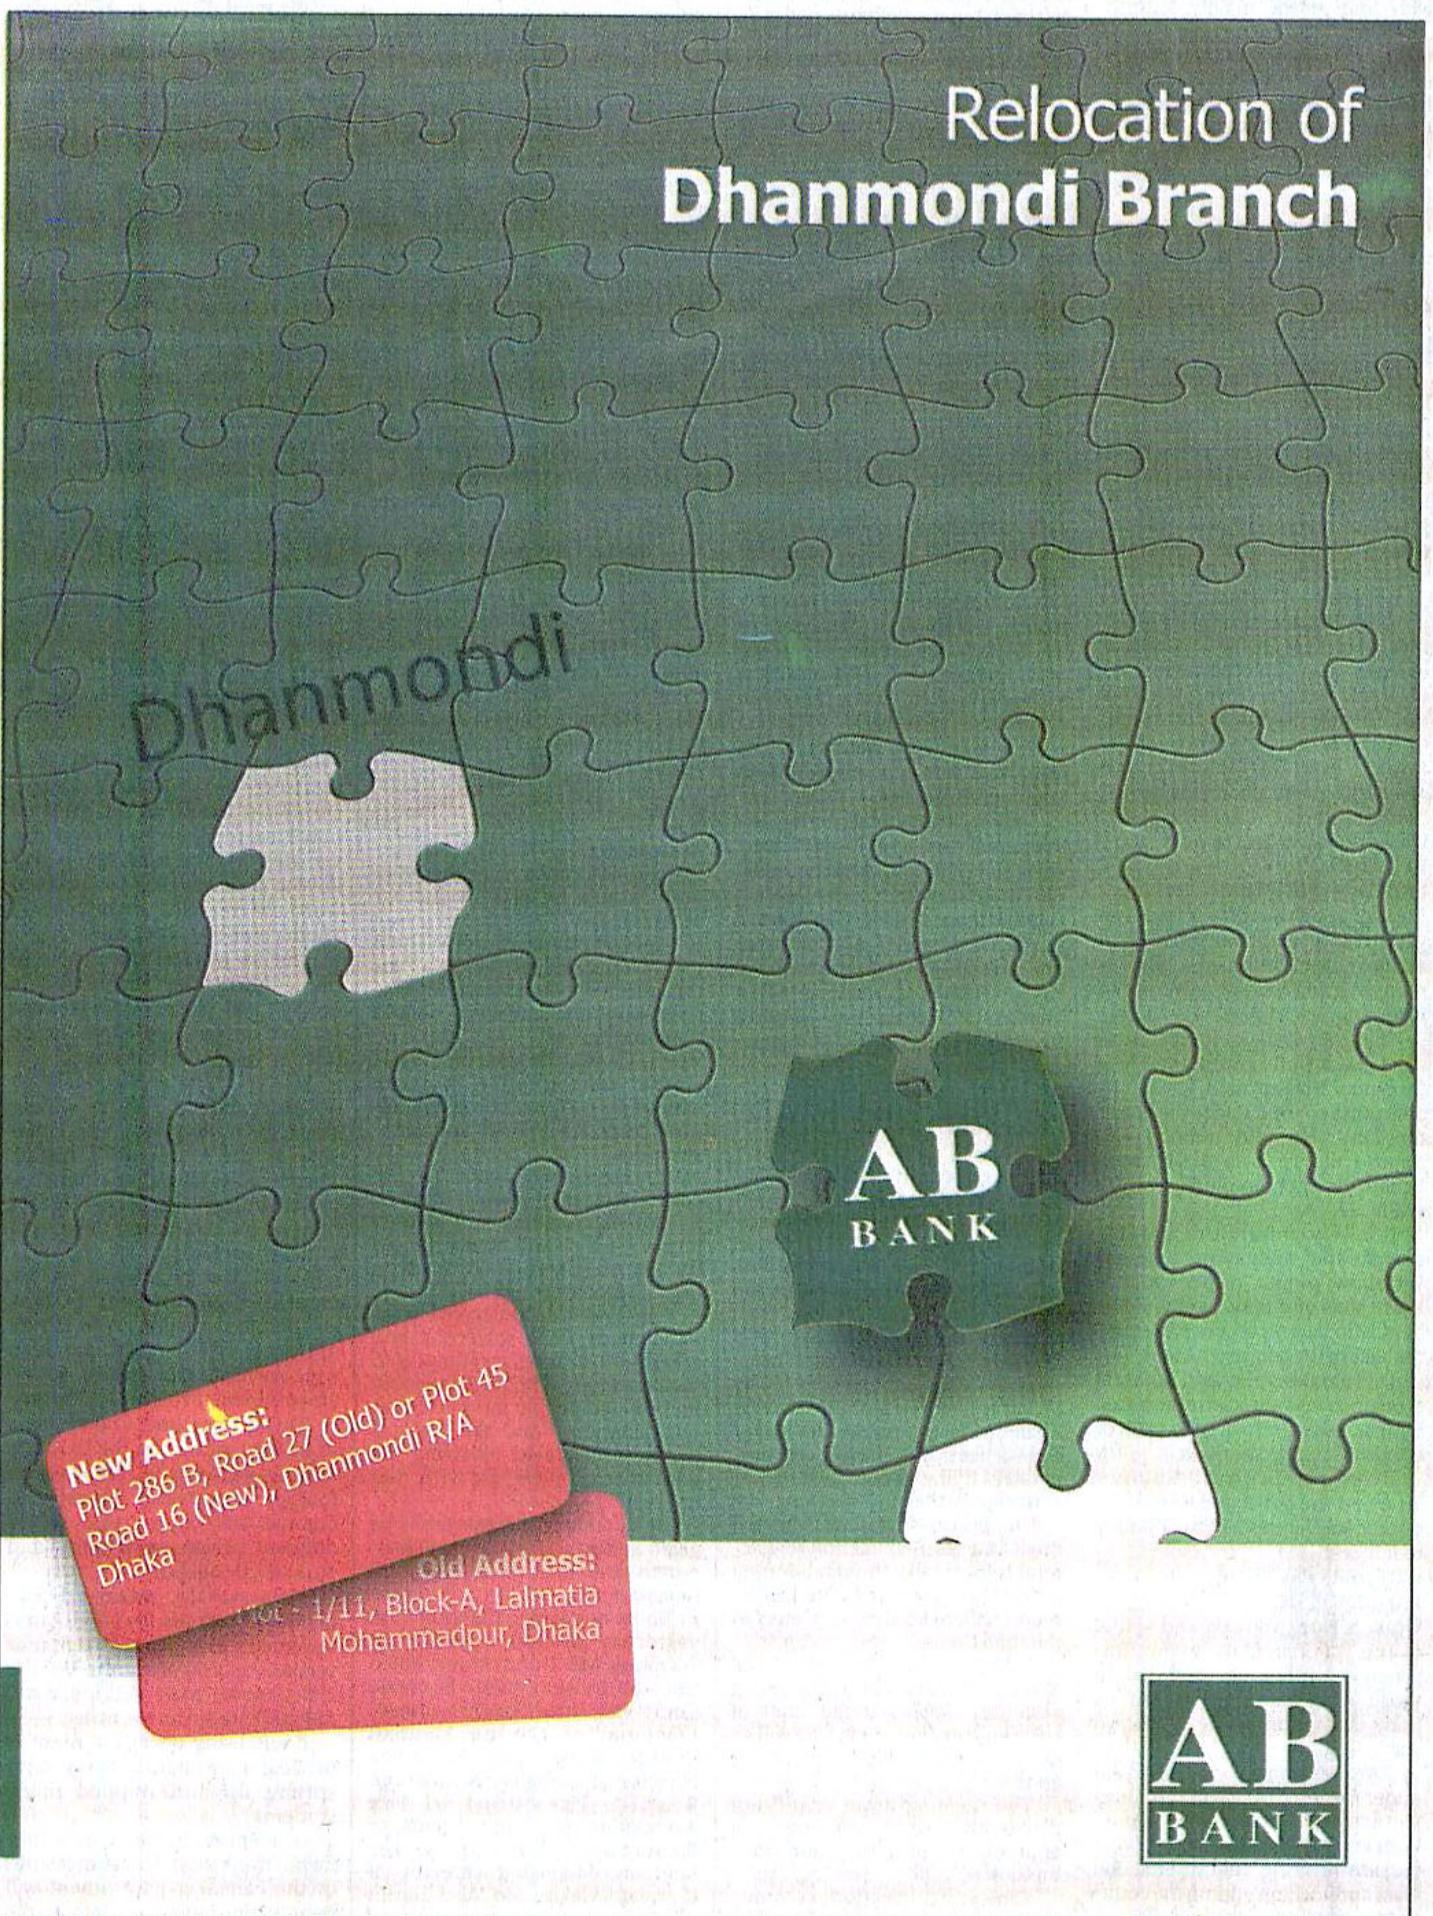

At the annual general meeting (AGM) of FBCCI yesterday, members criticised the present executive committee, saying it had totally failed to play its role in creating a business and investment friendly environment in the country.

The committee's failure has prompted the government to form the Better Business Forum, the members said arguing that the very move underestimates the stature of FBCCI as the country's apex business body.

Many members also called on the present committee to resign within the next 24 hours.
