Dressing with pride!

16 December, Victory Day conjures the spirit of pride and glory within our hearts. The biggest achievement as a nation is indeed something to celebrate. Keeping this momentous occasion in mind, different brand names have come up with their line of Victory Day attires.

Adroit

The Bijoy Dibash collection of Adroit is vibrant in colour and suitable for the coming winter season. The entire range comprising salwar kameez, sari, fatua, panjabi, and shirt features designs done in embroidery, appliqué, block, tie and dye, spray paint, and hand paint all highlighting the flavour of Victory Day. The prices start from low to a mid-range to cater for the needs of customers. Available from all Adroit outlets the cotton saris range between Tk 500-1800, silk saris Tk 1300-3500, jamdani sari Tk 1800-10500, salwar kameez Tk 850-1300, cotton fatua Tk. 520-1400 and t-shirts Tk 150-350. A range of children's attire befitting the occasion is also available.

Kay Kraft

Popular brand Kay Kraft has come with fatua, sari, salwar kameez, bandana, scarf and t-shirts. Unlike most fashion houses, KK's line has a dominance of the national bi-colour. The price range - sari Tk 700-1250, fatua Tk 350-550, children's fatua Tk 220-320, bandana Tk

50-100 and scarf Tk 100-150. The whole range of this seasonal line will be available at KK outlets in Banani, Sobhan, Plaza A.R., Malibagh, Riffle's Square and Mirpur.

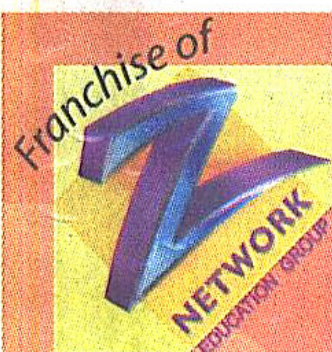

Nogordola

The team of designers of Nogordola Creative Centre has worked with appliqué, embroidery, block and screen print on their latest fashion release. Eye-catching shawl, fatua, salwar kameez, and a new collection of children wear are included in the collection; price ranges from Tk 490-4490.

Rang

The minds at Rang believes that their collection is more of a homage to the Victory Day than a mere business venture. The designs on tangail taat, panjabis and t-shirts lay witness to their claim. The collection is available at Rang outlets in Riffle's Square, Santona Market (Narayanganj), Twin Tower and Lalmatia.
