Agyan Party activities on rise in port city

DWAIPAYAN BARUA

Activities of Agyan Party, a gang of criminals who drug people before mugging them, marked an alarming rise in the port city despite tight security measures by the law enforcement agencies during the last few months.

The muggers have continued to carry out their activities under the nose of the members of the law enforcement agencies to target the innocent people, particularly the passengers, in the port city.

With a view to bringing the law and order situation under control, Chittagong Metropolitan Police (CMP) beefed up security ahead of Eid-Ul-Azha. Ten incidents of mugging took place last week by the members of Agyan Party.

Eleven people fell victim to the Agyan Party members and were hospitalised in critical condition in different areas of the city on Tuesday and Wednesday when they were going home to celebrate the Eid.

Six people were admitted to Chittagong Medical College Hospital (CMCH) on Tuesday while five others the following day (Wednesday), the day before Eid, CMCH sources said.

Mohammad Fazal, 35, and Rezaul Karim, 30, two friends, were found unconscious in an inter-district bus from Hathazari at around 11:30 am on Wednesday.

Chotan Rudra, 28, fell victim to the miscreants the same day while he was going to the GEC area from Olankar intersection in a city service bus and lost his cellphone set and money in cash, said the sources.

Other passengers rushed Chotan to the CMCH at around 3:00pm in an unconscious state. Locals recovered Khorshedul Alam, 50, from the New Market area at 2:30pm and took him to CMCH. Khorshed was returning to his residence after shopping at New Market. The miscreants looted his valuables, said the nurses at the hospital.

Locals found an unidentified person aged about 55 lying unconscious on the road in the busy Patherghata area at around 4:00pm.

Dr Faiz Ahmad Khandaker, assistant registrar of the medicine ward No 14 at CMCH, said most of the victims took foods like juice, coconut juice or biscuits with sedatives in them given by the unknown persons.

He said elderly persons having different physical complaints like diabetes can die after taking such drugs.

Staffs of a Chittagong-bound inter-city bus caught one Suman, a member of Agyan Party, at Nurjahan Hotel at Comilla on December 15 while he was trying to loot valuables of a passenger named Kumaraddin after making him unconscious. They handed him over to Pahartali police.

According to his confessional statement, police arrested one Shahjahan from a residential hotel in the Sayedabad area of the capital on December 19, police said.

Iltumish, assistant commissioner (AC) of Pahartali Police, said Shahjahan's men usually mix one kind of sedative imported from Pakistan, having no taste or smell, with different kinds of tasty foods like sandwich or juice to feed their targets.

Stressing the need for creating mass awareness against taking foods from unknown persons while travelling, Iltumish said police are on alert and trying best to check such incidents in the bus terminals.

He said several gangs of muggers might be involved in such activities as the drugs are available in local markets at cheaper rates.

Mobile blood bank to fight anaemia, malaria

Over 14,000 attacked with malaria, 2002 with anaemia in 10 months in Matiranga

ABDULLAH AL MAHMUD

The army organised a programme titled "Mobile blood bank programme" at Matiranga Degree College to fight anaemia and malaria that frequently take lives at Matiranga upazila in Chittagong Hill Tracts.

Over 14,000 people were reportedly attacked with malaria and 2002 with anaemia in the last 10 months since January in the upazila having a population of 1,34,000, sources said.

Of them, 576 were attacked with cerebral malaria that killed eight people in three months until October while two died due to anaemia. Attack and death of many due to malaria and anaemia in remote areas of Matiranga, the most populated upazila, remain unreported or uncounted for, they said.

The people, including tribal and non-tribal, are getting their names registered in eight groups according to blood groups and RH factors.

They launched programme at Matiranga, a remote upazila in the malaria-prone hilly district of Khagrachari, on December 15.

As against the scheduled number of 1000 as many as 1396 people got their blood grouping and registration done on the day at the college, some 90km off the port city.

While visiting the area on the day, a group of journalists from Chittagong saw several thousand people, including kids and old-aged ones, who are rather supposed to be scared of needles and hardly aware of blood grouping, thronged the college campus amid enthusiasm and festivity.

They queued each of the 10 tents where the lab technicians and representatives, one each from Bangalee, Murang, Tipura and Chakma tribes, were giving voluntary service for blood collection, grouping and registration.

After the blood grouping, everyone got an identity card with blood group (along with RH factor) to receive or donate blood.

"The campaign helped us become quite aware of the importance of grouping, matching and transfusion of blood to fight anaemia and malaria," said Aneu Chowdhury Nayen, headman and commissioner of Matiranga Sadar.

"To tackle the huge rush each of the headmen and Karbaris was assigned to bring only 20 to 30 people from their respective village or Mohalla for blood grouping," said Md Nurul Afsar a teacher of Matiranga Degree College.

Upazila Nirbahi Officer (UNO) Afzalur Rahman said the campaign and the mobile blood bank programme are phenomenal events.

With anaemia and malaria taking a huge toll on invaluable lives here every year, the programme has got tremendous response and spontaneous support, said Matiranga College Principal Md Abdul Hossain.

Local health officer Nurul Karim recalled the tragic death of Masuda Begum, 25, brought to them from Alutila for blood transfusion at night few months ago.

"With all the labs already closed we fetched a lab assistant only to know that the lady patient carried blood of B group when the Rh factor remained unidentified," he said.

"Being a person of B positive group I myself donated blood that she rejected indicating her blood group as B negative," he said.

"Unfortunately, no donor of that group could be found even at the Zone (army zone headquarters) at that moment and Masuda died before the dawn," he added.

The representatives of Matiranga army zone said they have come up with the mobile blood bank concept as they have failed to donate blood and witnessed people dying for blood many a time.

Commanding Officer (CO) of Matiranga Army Zone said local pharmacies, Grameen Shakti, BDR, VDP, local administrations and the teachers and students of different educational institutions made the programme a success providing volunteers.

He said they are planning to offer blood grouping free of cost to 5000 people in several phase and make list on the basis of Para, Mohalla and Village.

Local health complex or centres, ward commissioners, headmen and Karbaris will preserve copies of the lists to approach the mobile blood bank for blood if needed.
