'Protect energy, mineral resources from lobbyists of foreign companies'

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

National Committee to Protect Oil, Gas, Mineral Resources, Power and Port yesterday urged the government to protect energy and mineral resources division from the lobbyists of foreign companies.

Hinting at a special assistant to the chief adviser, Committee Convener Engineer Sheikh Muhammad Shahidullah and Member-secretary Prof Anu Muhammad in a joint statement said, "Despite being one of them who worked as a lobbyist of different foreign companies in favour of gas export, he got the charge of energy and mineral resources division."

Demanding the withdrawal of the decision (appointment of the special assistant), they said if the decision is not withdrawn immediately, then it would strengthen the question: Is the government playing a role to implement the agenda of foreign companies?

QUESTION LEAKAGE

NU registrar, 14 staffs transferred

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Fifteen officials of National University (NU), including Registrar Shamsher-uz-Zaman have been transferred yesterday for their alleged involvement in the question leakage in the 2nd Year (Honours) English Compulsory Examinations 2006.

Shamsher has been transferred to Human Resource and Development department and Dean Sher-Muhammad has been temporarily appointed the registrar, NU sources said.

Besides, all of the officials and employees of moderation department, which is responsible for making and distributing question papers, were transferred to the registrar's department, the sources added.

Meanwhile, the postponed courses, that were supposed to be held on January 12 and 13, would now be held on January 29 and 30.

Earlier on Thursday, the 1st and 2nd paper English Compulsory examinations for 2nd year students of 2006 were postponed by the NU authorities amid allegations of question leakage.

The examinations of the same courses were held once before on November 11, only to be cancelled later following similar allegations.

On January 2, the NU authorities suspended Mohammad Ibrahim, the controller of examinations, following an incident of question leakage.

The authorities at the time also blacklisted a few NU officials for their alleged involvement in the process and formed a probe committee.
