Coach Pim Verbeek said Sunday he will not be calling up Liverpool star Harry Kewell for Australia's opening World Cup qualifier with Qatar in Melbourne this week.

Kewell, the Liverpool left winger, has been one of Australia's key players in the last three World Cup qualifying campaigns.

He only returned to playing with his English Premier League club last November after suffering a groin injury while playing for Australia at last July's Asian Cup.

Verbeek said he also won't be using two other Europe-based players, Bristol City midfielder Nick Carle and Nurnberg defender Michael Beauchamp, for the Qatar game. The Dutchman originally included 19 overseas players in a 39-man squad for Wednesday's qualifier to give him the flexibility to call on them if necessary.

Verbeek also confirmed that all the players who were scheduled to leave Europe this weekend for Australia are on their way, with only one unidentified player left with a match to play.

Football Federation Australia medical chief Jeff Steinweg is monitoring all the European-based players and providing them with individual plans to deal with jet lag and undertake exercises on the long-haul flight to Melbourne, the FFA said.

Australia are grouped with Qatar, Asian Cup champions Iraq and China in the first phase of Asian World Cup qualifying for the 2010 finals in South Africa.

Blizzard greets Thai players

REUTERS, Tokyo

Thailand's soccer players, normally accustomed to tropical heat, awoke to blizzard-like conditions on Sunday after arriving in Japan for a World Cup qualifier. The Thais touched down in Tokyo late on Saturday with temperatures rapidly dropping and overnight, the Japanese capital had been overed in a thick blanket of snow.

"There was a blizzard. There's snow on the ground so we're training indoors," team manager Kittirat Na Ranong told Reuters ahead of Wednesday's 2010 World Cup qualifier in Saitama.

"It's definitely not what we're used to back home but we've been training in Manchester the past two and a half weeks. It is very cold and wet there so we're well prepared.

"We've had the best physical and mental preparation. We're confident of a good performance here."

'We are still in it'

AFP, Porthsmouth

Chelsea manager Avram Grant is refusing to rule BARCLAYS his side out of the Premier League title race despite witnessing them slip to six points behind leaders Arsenal after a 1-1 draw at Portsmouth.

Jermain Defoe scored a debut goal for his fourth successive club to cancel out Nicolas Anelka's first Premier League goal for Chelsea and deny Grant's quadruplechasing team a club record tenth win in a row.

Chelsea now know they can illafford anything less than a win when Liverpool visit Stamford Bridge next Sunday but Grant, who expects to welcome Frank yards. Lampard back from injury for that match, was defiant about his side's title prospects.

"When we aren't winning we are not so happy, especially after leading one nil and conceding a goal, which looked offside," he said. "It was disappointing

"But of course the title is not lost. There is still a long way to go until the end of the season. There are a lot of points to be won and anything can happen.

"Last season we were nine points behind Manchester United and people said we had a chance and now it is only six so we still have won nine games in a row before today. We have been playing attractive football and hopefully that will continue."

Germany midfielder Michael Ballack had already had a header cleared off the line when Anelka opened the scoring ten minutes into the second half.

Portsmouth felt they should have had a penalty when Claude Makelele appeared to handle Milan Baros's cross.

Referee Howard Webb angered home supporters and players alike by waving away their appeals and Florent Malouda launched a swift counter attack.

Malouda's left wing cross was headed across goal by Joe Cole for Anelka to finish neatly from six near over.

Portsmouth put their feelings of injustice behind them when Defoe took advantage of some unusually poor Chelsea defending to mark his seven-million-pound transfer deadline day arrival from Tottenham with a goal.

Goalkeeper David James played a hopeful long ball up field and Baros attracted Alex and Tal Ben Haim to the ball before heading for Defoe to find the bottom right corner of Petr Cech's goal from 12

Chelsea could even have fallen to only the third defeat of Grant's Stamford Bridge reign had Defoe not chipped wide of the goal when "We are in four trophies and had one-on-one with Cech 11 minutes from the end.

> Portsmouth manager Harry Redknapp agrees with Grant that the 2006 champions are still in contention to reclaim their crown, once Lampard and John Terry return from injury and Michael Essien, Didier Drogba and Saloman Kalou from the African Nations Cup. Redknapp, celebrating a first point against Chelsea in ten Premier League games, said: "Chelsea have got five world class players out and still won nine on the spin.

"When all those players come back they can go on a run again. The Championship is nowhere

"It was a great game and both teams were going for it. It could have gone either way.

"Jermain took his goal well and it was good for him. He had another couple of opportunities and given a few more games he may have tucked them away."

In a further boost for Chelsea, Grant revealed England midfielder Lampard should be back in contention for the Liverpool match and forthcoming Champions League, FA Cup and League Cup games after six weeks out with a knee problem.

Grant said: "Frank is better and might play against Liverpool."

Spurs switch is perfect: Hutton Hamburg slip up

Tottenham new boy Alan Hutton admits he is living out the dreams of every young Scot after making his Barclays Premier League debut against Manchester United.

The Scotland right-back completed his 9 million pound move from Rangers on Wednesday and went straight into the Tottenham team for yesterday's White Hart Lane clash.

Carlos Tevez's late strike denied him a winning start, as Tottenham had to settle for 1-1, but Hutton relished the occasion and, having hesitated initially over the move, is glad he opted for the Premier League challenge. He said in the News of the World:

"I definitely feel I've made the right choice to come down here to a massive club and look forward to playing in games like this every "It's what every young boy from Scotland probably dreams of doing. Leaving Rangers was a big step for me but overall I'm glad I

"Now I'm just looking forward to all the games coming up and playing against all the other great players down here."

Hutton, 23, returns to Scotland for a training camp with the national team which sees the players meet new head coach George Burley on Sunday night and train over the next two days.

He has no doubt the move to Tottenham will be a success, and insists his price tag should not be a

"I didn't feel the pressure of the fee to be honest," Hutton said. "I believe in myself and I know what I can do."

Neuville injured

REUTERS, Berlin

Germany striker Oliver Neuville has pulled out of Wednesday's friendly away to Austria because of a foot problem but captain Michael Ballack will join the squad despite his head injury.

Ballack needed stitches after a clash of heads in Chelsea's 1-1 draw with Portsmouth on Saturday but he remains in line to make his first international appearance since March 2007, the German Football Association said in a statement on Sunday.

Coach Joachim Loew will not be calling up a replacement for Neuville, leaving Mario Gomez, Miroslav Klose and Kevin Kuranyi as the three out-and-out strikers.

Hamburg's 1-1 draw at home to Hanover means they are now six points behind leaders Bayern and back to fourth as Bayer Leverkusen claimed third spot with late 3-2 win at Energie Cottbus.

"I want to completely forget the first half very quickly," said Dutch coach Stevens.

Bruckner taken ill

AFP, Prague

Czech manager Karel Bruckner will miss out on his team's two Euro-2008 preparatory matches against Greece and Poland in Cyprus because of illness, football federation head Vlastimil Kostal said in a news conference on Sunday. "The manager has a high temperature with a suspicion of an inflammation of the lungs. In view of his health, it is clearly better that he stays in bed and gets better," Kostal said of the 68-year old veteran manager. The Czechs are due to play against Greece on Tuesday and Poland on Wednesday. There was a slim, but unlikely, chance that Bruckner might fly out late to Cyprus, Kostal added. The two games were lined up as part of an international tournament with the Czechs looking forward to the European championships which they will kick off against joint hosts Switzerland on June 7.

The semifinalists in Euro 2004 have also been drawn in the same group as Portugal and Turkey.
