Youngmen's Club failed to repeat their performance of a 3-0 win against Victoria two days earlier in the Victory Day Cup when the two sides drew 1-1 in yesterday's Senior Division Football League.

Towhidul Alam Sabuj put Youngmen's ahead one minute before half-time but second-placed Victoria equalised through Arafat in the 70th minute at the Birshreshtha Shaheed Mostafa Kamal Stadium in Kamalapur as the 13-team competition resumed after a three-day break.

The other match between Dhaka Wanderers and City Club ended in a goalless draw.

There will be no match today. After seven rounds, Victoria reached 15 points, trailing leaders Jatrabari by three points. Youngmen's were on 11 points from six games while Wanderers and bottom-table City on nine and two points respectively.

Arambagh in final

Football

SPORTS REPORTER

A late rally steered Arambagh Krira Sangha to end Badda Jagarani's impressive run in the Protiti Pharma Victory Day Club Cup football tournament and enter the final with a 2-0 win in the first semifinal yesterday.

Guest midfielder Rezaul Karim Liton and Ugandan striker Iddi Badambuze scored inside the last ten minutes at the almost empty Bangabandhu National Stadium as Arambagh set a final date on February 10 against winners of today's semifinal between Abahani and Mohammedan.

It would be Arambagh's third final of a major tournament after reaching the Federation Cup finals in 1996 and 2000 although they had lost on both occasions.

Senior Division side Badda, who began the eight-team event with a stunning 1-0 win over Abahani, stormed to the last four as Group B champions when they thrashed Dhaka Wanderers 4-1 even after a 2-1 defeat at the hands of Muktiyoddha in the group stage.

The Badda youngsters, however, showed their nerves against professional league club Arambagh in the knockout stage. With skipper and former national midfielder Mintu missing out due to injury, they heavily missed the touch of experience and survived a close call after 21 minutes.

Arambagh's outstanding performer Liton, a former international from Brothers Union who has been playing as a guest, took a superb corner but defender and captain Akram's brilliant header was cleared by another header by Russel Jr from the goalline.

Badda should have clinched the lead after 43 minutes but stand-in captain Nasir, who has been included in the national Under-19 squad for this month's Indo-Bangladesh Bangla Games, fluffed a sitter in the 43rd minute. He had rival keeper Piru on one-on-one after a corner but the midfielder shot the ball over the bar near from the penalty spot.

With both sides failing to break the deadlock at the break, Liton provided another chance 13 minutes after resumption but his chip from the left was headed out of danger before the two African forwards could meet the ball.

Mohammedan Sporting Club will look forward to rebuild a tarnished image following an 'unsporting' game against Arambagh in the group stage and the punishment they had received for it when they face archrivals Abahani in the second semifinal of the Protiti Pharma Victory Day Club Cup today.

The match at the Bangabandhu National Stadium will be telecast live by ATN Bangla from 4.15pm.

Everyone dreams about an Abahani-Mohammedan final when ever a tournament is being held. In a bid to avoid Abahani in the semis, event hosts Mohammedan looked set to lose their group match against eventual finalists Arambagh before crowd agitation forced the local giants to play for a win.

The tournament committee, however, forfeited Mohammedan's

3-1 win and fined Tk 50,000 each to both teams for 'hurting the spirit of the game'.

"I don't think the dispute surrounding Tuesday's match will influence my team tomorrow as they don't want to look back. All the players' focus is on the semifinal," black and whites coach Shafiqul Islam Manik said yesterday.

Manik, who has been using about five guest players, admitted his side will start as dark horse against an informal Abahani.

"We didn't have adequate preparation and there is little understanding among the players. Still, Abahani -- who have showed superb team work so far -- can be beaten if our players use their senses," the former national fullback added.

After resting half a dozen regulars against Arambagh, Manik will have all his booters available against the sky-blues, who will miss key striker Emily and attacking midfielder Abul.

Italy, Germany cruise

Fabio Capello oversaw a winning start to his tenure as England manager on Wednesday with a 2-1 victory over Switzerland while his Italian compatriots scored an impressive friendly success over Portugal which augurs well for the Azzurri's chances at Euro 2008.

Despite England's abject failure to qualify for the European Championships in June their first game under Capello was always going to merit more than a Wembley sideshow and a healthy crowd was warmed by fine goals from Jermaine Jenas and Shaun Wright-Phillips.

In between times, however, the deficiencies of the Steve McClaren era were apparent at the back as Eren Dedyok stole in to notch a fine Swiss consolation.

From the team that started England's last match, a 3-2 Wembley defeat by Croatia Steve McClaren a place at Euro 2008 and his job, only Steven Gerrard, Gareth Barry and Joe Cole survived with off-form Newcastle striker Michael Owen dropped.

David Bentley shone in the space vacated by David Beckham on the right of midfield while veteran keeper David James returned just six months short of his 38th birthday and was in no way at fault for Dedjok's goal.

But England will have to kick their heels in June as the cream of the European game heads for Austria and Switzerland where Italy will be on short odds to add the trophy to their World Cup triumph of 2006 after swatting Portugal 3-1 in Zurich.

Bayern Munich forward Luca Toni opened the scoring in first-half injury-time and AC Milan midfielder Andrea Pirlo doubled the advantage six minutes after the break with a bobbling shot from distance.

Ricardo Quaresma pulled a goal back with less than a quarter of an hour to play but two minutes later Udinese forward Fabio Quagliarella sealed the victory against a Portuguese side whose defending bordered on the chaotic.

"That was a great performance,

Meeting draws no decision

SPORTS REPORTER

The executive committee of Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) on Wednesday failed to make any headway over some serious issues.

The committee was supposed to take a final decision on the appointment of a new CEO, but nothing came of it. The board decided to invite fresh aspirants as well as the shortlisted candidates for a replacement of Mahmudur Rahman, whose contract expires this month.

Administration DGM Nizamuddin Chowdhury meanwhile, has been posted as the acting chief executive officer.

The most burning issue regarding the long-term television deal was also discussed in the meeting.

The meeting has asked the M Abdul Monem-led review committee to re-examine Nimbus's reply, which was received on Tuesday regarding the three-day meeting they had with the BCB review committee last month.

In regards to the team operations manager, BCB has asked for fresh applicants.

Weather still a factor

Lankans take on hosts today

CRICINFO, Sydney

The last time Australia and Sri Lanka met in a one-day international the game's conclusion was ruined when the umpires forced play to continue as darkness fell on the World Cup final in Barbados. Weather looms as the only thing that could spoil their rematch at the SCG on Friday, with a cracking contest likely if the rain stays away. Unfortunately, that "if" should be bold and underlined.

Sydney spectators have witnessed some superb cricket from Sri Lanka over the years, although they have never played a Test there. They like the ground so much they have won four of their last five ODIs at the venue. "Maybe that's why they don't let us play Test cricket here," Mahela Jayawardene, Sri Lanka's captain, said jokingly ahead of the third CB Series game.

There have been some brutal individual efforts in those victories, especially by Sanath Jayasuriya, whose past five ODI innings at the SCG have brought 65, 122, 106, 114 and a duck in their most recent loss there. His aim of scoring a fourth century at the ground might be hampered by the weather, however, with the showers that drifted through Sydney on Thursday likely to continue on Friday.

Both teams hope the conditions are fine enough to cobble together a result, having each opened their CB Series campaigns with a wash-out against India in Brisbane. "It's probably been frustrating for all three teams I suppose," Australia's captain Ricky Ponting said. "Brisbane, the weather up there last week was horrendous and it hasn't been much better this week. Our preparation has been a little bit different this week than we probably would have liked."

Australia's abbreviated match against India at the Gabba allowed Ponting a little extra time to rest after suffering back soreness in the Adelaide Test against India late last month. Ponting conceded he should have retired hurt rather than batting on in the Test, although he is now confident of making it through the whole CB Series.

"I must admit I battled through (Sunday's) game in Brisbane," he said. "I had a lot of work over the last few days here but today (Thursday) I purposely had a really long hit-out in the nets out the back just to get a bit more confidence in my movements and try and iron out a bit of the stiffness that I've got."

Ponting's soreness has not helped his fielding and he was one of the culprits in the first ODI when two catches went down in the slips. There were several uncharacteristic misses from Ponting's teammates in the field during the Test series and he said the trend was starting to worry him.

"The catching is a concern," Ponting said. "We've had guys moving all over the place in the

England stay superior

Cricket

AFP, Christchurch

England again outclassed New Zealand when Paul Collingwood and Owais Shah reversed a batting slump to engineer a 50-run win in their Twenty20 match here Thursday.

England posted 193 for eight and a demoralised New Zealand could only manage 143 for eight in reply.

The win wrapped up the festival section of the tour for England 2-0, giving them a psychological edge as they head into a series of five one-day matches starting on Saturday followed by three Tests next month.

But the second Twenty20 victory was not as clinical as the first encounter when England fielded the same team and most batsmen contributed to their 32-run victory on Tuesday.

This time New Zealand were able to force an England top order slump before Collingwood and Shah regained the ascendancy.

After a rollicking start by Luke Wright and Phil Mustard, who clouted 65 in 5.5 overs, the next 15 deliveries saw England lose four wickets for 11 runs to be 76 for four. Teenaged paceman Tim Southee, 19, who is being bloodied by New Zealand as a talent of the future, claimed the prized scalps of Mustard (40) and Kevin Pietersen (three).

Chris Martin bowled Wright for 30 and Ian Bell was run out for one going for a quick single on a misfield.

But if New Zealand thought they had England on the ropes they were quickly corrected as Shah and Collingwood put on 102 in 62 balls for the fifth wicket.

Captain Collingwood had five fours and three sixes in his 54 off 28 deliveries while Shah faced 35 balls for 47 including four fours and two sixes.

Both fell in consecutive balls from Paul Hitchcock -- Shah caught at deep long off and Collingwood at deep long on, bringing in the powerful Dmitri Mascarenhas who avoided the hattrick with a six.

Collingwood rated the England performance better than in the first match because of the way they recovered.

"We lost four quick wickets in the middle but we got the momentum back and that was important and the boys carried it on through the innings and that was a massive total," he said.

"There's so many positives that have come out of it and hopefully we can take that kind of form into the one-day series. We've got five very important games coming up and we can take a lot of confidence from these two wins."
