

Our Clarification

On January 1, 2008, Dhaka Bank Limited published an advertisement in newspapers welcoming the New Year. In the advertisement, two separate 100 taka notes were used to establish the connection between the old and the New Year. But regrettably, different note numbers were used in both soiled and new parts of the notes in a single layout; this mismatch caused confusion among the people.

This error was entirely unintended. We deeply regret this oversight on the part of Dhaka Bank. Dhaka Bank continues to play a positive role in the economic activities of the country. We trust the people will accept our apology for this inadvertent error.
