ards 2007

m a bunker in the Korengal Valley, Afghanistan, on September 16, 2007 by bruary 8, 2008 the World Press Photo of the Year 2007.

This picture by South African Brent Stirton, showing the evacuation of dead of Mountain Gorillas, Virunga National Park, in eastern Congo won on February 8, 2008 the World Press Photo 2007 Contemporary Issues singles first prize.

This picture of Russian President Vladimir Putin by photographer Platon won on February 8, 2008 the World Press Portraits First Prize Singles 2007.

This picture by Balazs Gardi of Hungary from Network VII won the General News / First Prize singles on February 8, 2008 at the World Press. An Afghan man holds a wounded young boy in front of a house in Yaka China Village, Korengal Valley, East Afghanistan. The boy received multiple shrapnel wounds from a rocket as a U.S. airstrike targeted a suspected insurgent position in a nearby house in the village at the previous night. The air strike also killed five civilians and injured least seven villagers, including children.