Orientation Training on

CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY

AND DISCLOSURE

GRI-G3 & THE TRIPLE BOTTOM-LINE March 9-10, 2008 | Dhaka, Bangladesh

If investors are not confident with the level of disclosure, capital will flow elsewhere - Arthur Levitt

CHAIRMAN, US SECURITIES & EXCHANGE COMMISSION, 1993-2001 Advocating transparency and comparability of financial reporting

CARE-Bangladesh and Responsible Business Initiative (RBI) are organizing an intensive 2-day workshop specifically designed for professionals from Business, NGOs, Academia and Media, who seek the necessary knowledge, skills and tools to produce globally comparable reports on their organization's social environmental and financial performance in a transparent manner. The workshop aims to familiarize participants with the current context and trends in Corporate Social Responsibility, Triple Bottom-line Reporting (TBL) and guide them through the stakeholder process required for TBL documentation using the Global Reporting Initiative's G-3 guidelines.

About the Training

The Training is designed in response to the increasing demand among suppliers in developing countries to measure up to the expectations of buyers from consumer societies with regard to social and environmental integrity of supply chains in developing countries. It includes discussions, practical exercises, mini-case studies, and presentations, visiting experts and practice tasks on the themes listed below:

Day 1: Appreciating The Challenge

Understanding CSR – A Driver of Competitiveness

What is CSR? Does CSR work? What are the difference between CSR and TBL? What are the dilemmas and risks to competitiveness for companies, now and over the horizon? How does consumer acceptance fit into a company's risk management strategy? What are the opportunities in globalizing markets? Can social investments; environmental stewardship and responsible profits create market advantage?

Expectations - The Responsible Business Framework

What is expected from leaders in business and society? What is the Responsible Business Framework? Integrating & implementing CSR through Responsible Business Framework.

Day 2: Marshalling A Response

Public Disclosure - As a Competitive Strategy

How can supply chains show product responsibility? In an information age, what is the benefit of public disclosure? How can companies engage their stakeholders and manage stakeholder feedback for transparent disclosure of their Triple Bottom-line? What are some practical ways to implement public disclosure programs for desired benefit?

The How-To - Action Tools for Process-led Documentation

What are the key skill-sets and tools that decision-makers or documentation professionals need to effectively document and report on their TBL? How can these skills be developed within the traditional company environment? How does the GRI-G3 aid in building capacity, moderating the stakeholder process, collating data, and producing a meaningful TBL report? How it all adds up to building reputation and image?

Registration Fee: Tk. 15,000 (meals inclusive)

25 places are available for registration. Applicants are required to submit a one-page Statement of Purpose, describing their organizational role and their expectations form the workshop by March 2, 2008. Accepted participants would be asked to bring their latest company report.

Jahirul Haque (Jony) [Nov 19, 1979- Feb 13, 2008]

It all started in a late summer of 1992. We walked into the same path of life. Grueling six long years made it a bond to last forever, Morning exercise to class room, lunch to games, PREP to lights off- the life that tuned in same tone, would never again sing the best song of life. With the last spray of soil in the grave, Jahir will never be heard of again. With all his simplicity, purity of mind and heart felt affection for all; he has gone; gone for ever.
