

WALKERS AT THE RAMNA PARK

ANYBODY can recognise the place at a glance. This is Ramna Park. As the city of millions lacks adequate open spaces, hundreds have turned the park into a health club for them. They assemble here for a walk, chat and a little fresh air and exercise in the morning. The place is becoming popular everyday as the number of children and elderly women is increasing in the recent days.

Profile

Photo: Palash Khan

A young, promising photographer and a staff at The Daily Sangbad. Palash started his career as a free-lancer in 2001. He has a diploma in photography from the Bangladesh Photographic Institute (BPI). He has keen interest in documentary photography. www.palashkhan.com

