

Abbas warns of 'difficult impasse' in peace talks

Palestinian president Mahmud Abbas warned yesterday of an "extremely difficult impasse" if a peace deal is not reached with Israel before US President George W. Bush leaves office in January.

"If President Bush's term ends without an accord we will find ourselves at an extremely difficult impasse, and we Palestinians will have to look at what measures we can take if that is the case," Abbas told AFP on board his flight back to the Middle East which made a stopover in Scotland.

Abbas was in the White House on Thursday to meet Bush who is pushing for a peace deal to resolve the Israeli-Palestinian conflict before the end of his term early next year.

The Palestinian leader said that Bush "clearly realises that time is short, but he remains hopeful of being able to achieve something." Bush said after meeting Abbas that a Palestinian state was "a high priority, for me and my administration -- a viable state, a state that doesn't look like Swiss cheese, a state that provides hope."

Abbas has called on the United States to use its influence to implement the so-called "roadmap" for Middle East peace and "achieve Bush's vision of two states" -- an independent Palestinian state living in peace alongside Israel.

In their talks, Abbas said he and the American president clearly stated their positions, and he applauded the Bush administration's active diplomacy to reach an accord by the start of next year.

At the same time, Abbas admitted there was still a "wide gap" between the Palestinian and Israeli positions on key issues.

"All the issues under discussion are difficult," he said.

"We told President Bush that there are three main obstacles -- continuing to expand Jewish settlements and maintain roadblocks in the occupied West Bank, and the question of borders which we insist must be based on the 1967 borders." Israel occupied the West Bank and captured Jerusalem during the 1967 Middle East war, and later annexed it.

Abbas added, however, that he did not rule out "slight modifications" to the borders in order to reach a peace agreement with the Jewish state.

Meanwhile, the teenage daughter of a Hamas chief was killed and eight people were wounded in an Israeli air raid at dawn on the Gaza Strip, Hamas and Palestinian health officials said yesterday.

The 14-year-old, Maryam Talat Mahuf, died when a missile fired by an Israeli aircraft hit her house in Beit Lahia north of Gaza City, they said, adding that the eight others were wounded.

German agency many have spied on Afghan ministers

AFP, Berlin

Kabul believes Germany's foreign intelligence service may have spied on several Afghan ministers, a newspaper said yesterday, following news the agency illicitly monitored the economy minister's emails.

Besides having spied on emails between minister Mohammad Amin Farhang and a reporter for the German news weekly Der Spiegel, the Afghan government also believes Germany's Federal Intelligence Service (BND) also listened in on Farhang's telephone conversations and may have spied on his colleagues, the regional Mitteldeutsche Zeitung reported.

That half a dozen Afghan ministers speak German may have "facilitated the BND's work," the newspaper wrote.

Lanka fears more bombings

Bus blast toll hits 26

AFP, Colombo

The death toll from a bus blast outside Colombo rose to 26 on Saturday as Sri Lanka warned of more indiscriminate attacks against civilians while security forces remained locked in combat against Tamil rebels.

President Mahinda Rajapakse said Friday's blast was the work of the rebel Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE) guerrillas who are resisting a major military campaign in the north of the island.

The president in a statement warned that the rebels could resort to further indiscriminate attacks and urged residents to exercise more caution.

A powerful time-bomb ripped through an overcrowded bus, blowing off its roof, as it pulled out of the Piliyandala terminal into rush-hour traffic on Friday on the outskirts of the capital.

"Two more passengers died in hospital and the number of people remaining in hospital this morning is 64," a police spokesman said.

Grief-stricken relatives gathered outside two hospitals to claim the dead from the explosion on the bus, which was jammed with office workers and schoolchildren returning from private classes.

Among those killed were a 10-year-old boy, a Buddhist monk and eight women.

"The president deplored the LTTE bomb attack on a packed bus in Piliyandala, saying terrorists had once again resorted to killing innocent civilians in the face of heavy setbacks in the battlefield," Rajapakse's office said.

The bombing was the "latest in a series of indiscriminate attacks aimed at civilians," Rajapakse said in the statement, appealing to the public to be more vigilant and to help troops to foil the "destructive plans" of the rebels.

Pakistan to buy anti-terror equipment from China

AFP, Islamabad

Pakistan will purchase equipment from China to fight terrorist activity, Foreign Minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi said on Friday.

China is one of the closest allies and largest arms supplier of Pakistan, which has been hit by a wave of suicide bombings in which more than 1,000 people have died in the past year.

"Pakistan has expressed the desire to purchase some anti-terror equipment from China," Qureshi told a joint press conference with the visiting Chinese foreign minister Yang Jiechi after their talks in Islamabad.

"China has indicated that it will be more than happy to supply this equipment to us, which will strengthen our arms in dealing with terrorist activities."

He did not disclose when and what type of equipment Pakistan would purchase from China.

Gillani has 'no problem' with Musharraf

PTI, Islamabad

Pakistan Prime Minister Yousuf Raza Gillani has indicated that he intends to work with President Pervez Musharraf, saying he does not think that his government "will have any problem" with the former military ruler.

Gillani, who heads the new ruling coalition formed by the Pakistan People's Party and PML-N, also said he did not believe that Musharraf had any intention of using the President's controversial powers to dissolve the parliament and dismiss the prime minister.

"He (Musharraf) has been President for eight years. He has willingly doffed his uniform. And he has recently conducted an election, one that has brought pro-democracy forces into power. I don't think we will have any problem from him," Gillani said in an interview with the Nawa-i-Waqt Urdu media group.

He was replying to a question on the possibility of Musharraf using his powers under the controversial Article 58(2b) of the constitution to dissolve parliament in case the judges deposed during last year's emergency are reinstated.

"We don't believe the President has any intention of using the clause," Gillani said. "The people gave us our mandate for the restoration of the constitution. We will have to respect that. And so does the President." While the PPP has indicated that it is willing to forge a working relationship with Musharraf, PML-N chief Nawaz Sharif has been insisting that the President should quit.

Gillani avoided giving a direct reply to a question on the possibility of PPP co-chairman Asif Ali Zardari becoming Prime Minister after contesting by-elections in June.

"Zardari has every right to contest the election. As far as my office is concerned, I was made Prime Minister by my party. And I will stay with the party," he said.

Sri Lankan troops walk in the grounds of the highly venerated Roman Catholic church of Madhu on Friday, shortly after wresting control over the area from Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam (LTTE) guerrillas. Defence officials said the Tiger rebels had withdrawn in the face of a major military advance in the northern district of Mannar.

24 die in Afghan unrest

AFP, Kabul

Bomb blasts killed three Afghan policemen and four suspected Taliban yesterday, officials said, also reporting that 17 other people, including a population census official, died in unrest a day earlier.

Two police officers were killed when a bomb planted in a road blew up their vehicle in the southern province of Ghazni, provincial spokesman Zia Wali told AFP, blaming the attack on Taliban. Three others were wounded, he said.

A third police officer was killed and another wounded in a similar blast in the southwestern province of Farah, regional police commander Khalilullah Ziaee said, also accusing the Taliban.

Insurgents led by the Taliban movement that was ousted from government seven years ago have in recent weeks stepped up attacks on police, seen as a weak branch of the security forces.

More than three dozen Afghan policemen have been killed in attacks this month, according to an AFP tally.

Also Saturday, four suspected Taliban militants were killed when a car they were using to move explosives blew up in the eastern province of Laghman, a provincial official said.

"Four terrorists were killed when the vehicle that they used to transport explosives for terrorist activities exploded. We think they were Taliban," provincial spokesman Abdul Wakil Atak told AFP.

Manmohan hopeful of Kashmir peace

THE DAWN, New Delhi

Prime Minister Manmohan Singh lauded Pakistan's new leadership on Friday for its positive statements about the road ahead with India and offered hopes of building new bridges with Islamabad to bring peace to the region and also to combat the looming economic crisis together.

Dr Singh's comments came at the inauguration of a bridge over the Chenab river in the Akhnoor region of Occupied Jammu and Kashmir.

"There is a growing sentiment among the people in both countries that misunderstanding and problems between them should be resolved through dialogue. Taking advantage of this new climate, the people of the two countries can move forward to build a permanent friendship."

Announcing measures to ease travel across the LoC, Dr Singh spoke of features like triple entry permits and completion of the verification process within six weeks. Operationalisation of Kargil-Skardu and Jammu-Sialkot routes are under discussion.

The frequency of the Srinagar-Muzaffarabad and Poonch-Rawalakot bus services should be increased to weekly from the present fortnightly. "However, none of these steps will be effective unless there is a sustained climate of peace," he cautioned.
