Star inside

Will Democracy Get a Fresh Start?

When the Caretaker Government assumed power one and a half years ago it promised a free and fair election devoid of the power of money and muscle. A drive on corruption has subsequently been launched; some corruption suspects have been arrested. The government has made some institutional reforms to make democracy more participatory and transparent. With the general election only seven months away, the government has invited different political parties to a dialogue. Issues like the election and carrying out reforms once the elected government takes over are expected to dominate the dialogue.

Cover Photo: Zahedul I Khan
Cover Design: Manan Murshed

- Letters 2
- Voicebox 4
- Newsnotes 5
- Chintito 6
- Heritage 16
  Something for Everyone
- Perspective 18
  The Invisibles
- Art 20
  A Grand Symphony
- Photo Feature 24
  A Visit to Jorasanko Thakurbari
- Event 28
  An Asian Congregation
- Perceptions 32
  The Dramas of Our Lives
- Literature 34
  Reading for Pleasure
- Photography 36
  "Doors and Windows"
- Impressions 38
  The Death of Identity
- Reflections 40
  The Tale of a Selfish Man
- Book Review 42
- Dhaka Diary 44
- Health 46
  Five Tips for Keeping Your Face Clean and Healthy
- Globetrotter 48