

Team B of North South University and Stamford University became champion and runners-up respectively in the World's Model debate (British Parliamentary style) on the topic 'Capitalism is a hangover from the history'. Sinha Ibne Humayun of NSU was adjudged the best debater at the university-level competition.

Shafkat Fahmid was adjudged the best debater at the 'Best Debater Selection Round' where seven selected debaters from seven schools participated in United Nations model debates. The topic was 'United Nations is the main solution to establish peace in the world'.

A total of 12 English medium schools including Cider International School, Bay View School, Sunshine Grammar School, Child Heaven School, Chittagong Grammar School, Radiant School, Standard School, European Grammar School, Independent School, Cantonment English School, GEMS English Medium School and Chittagong Sunshine School participated in the competition.

The participating universities were Chittagong University (CU), Chittagong University of Engineering and Technology (Cuet), North South University (NSU), University of Science and Technology, Chittagong (USTC), Independent University Bangladesh (IUB), Premier University, Stamford University and International Islamic University of Chittagong (IIUC).