16th Young Artists' Art Exhibition '08'

Senior artists suggest updating the process

ERSHAD KAMOL

Each day a notable numbers of art lovers went to see the works of young artists on display at the 16th Young Artists' Art Exhibition, being held at National Art Gallery. Beginning on May 18 the exhibition and competition, organised by the Department of Fine Arts, Bangladesh Shilpakala Academy (BSA), will end tomorrow.

One hundred and ninety five art works by 141 young artists in different mediums -- painting, drawing, sculpture, printmaking, graphics, and installation -- are on display. Eight artists received awards for their noteworthy works.

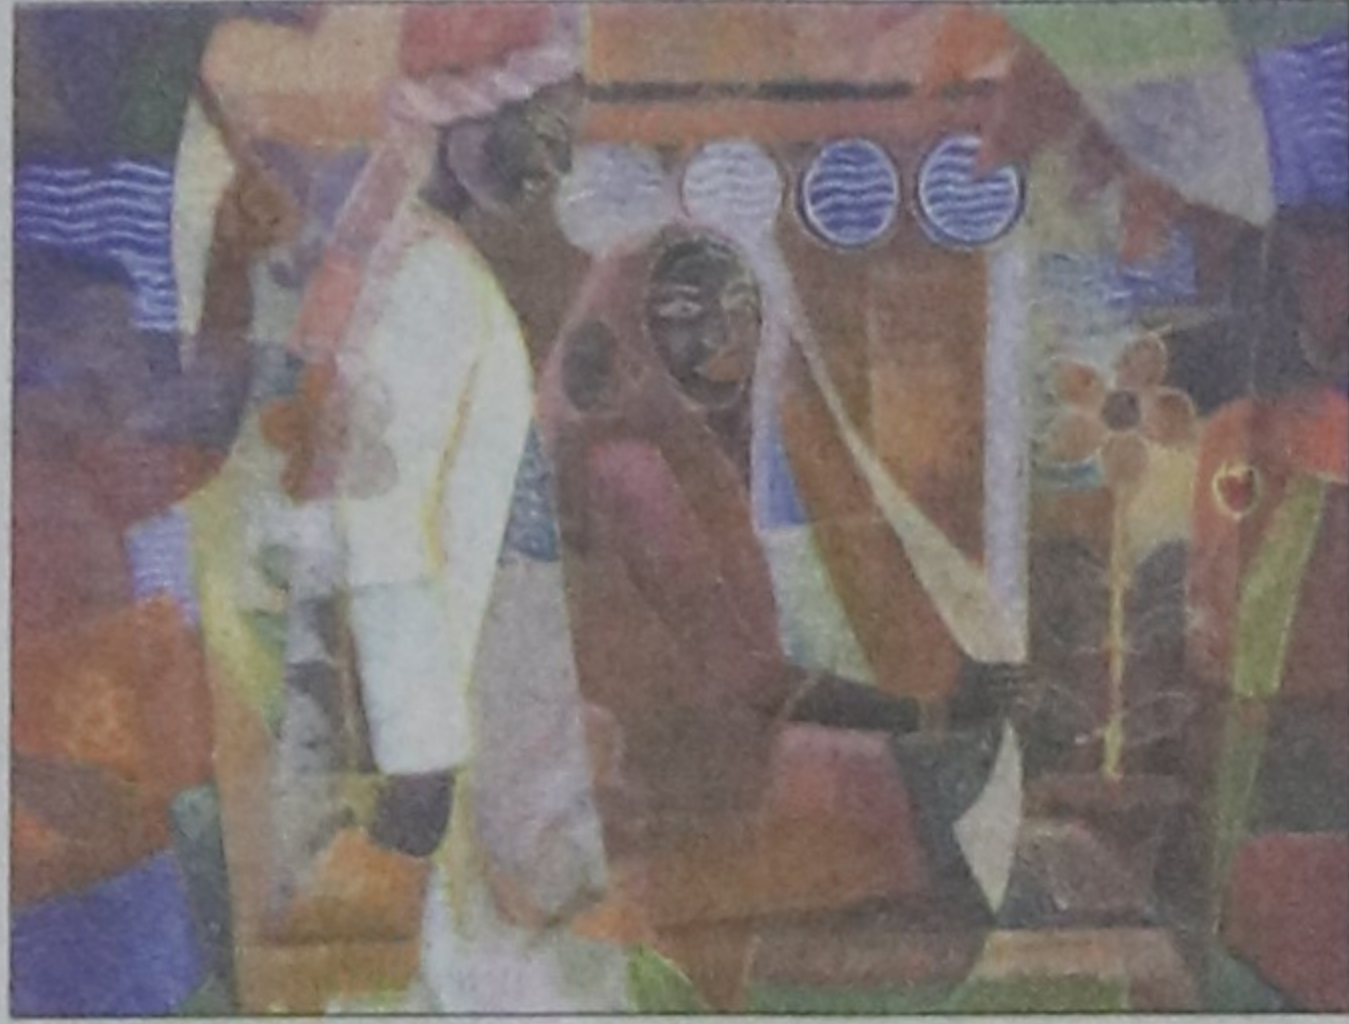

The department has been organising exhibitions featuring talented young artists' works biennially since 1975. From the beginning the young artists have been encouraged with awards in three categories -- painting, sculpture and printmaking.

Renowned artists of the country, appreciating the initiative taken by BSA to encourage the young artists, commented that it does work as an incentive for talented young artists. However, to keep touch with the contemporary scenario, they wanted a reviewed process of exhibition and competition by BSA.

Eminent artist Mansurul Karim, who was a member of the jury at 16th Young Artists' Art Exhibition '08, said, "BSA is still giving awards only in three mediums, though artists these days are working in new mediums and new forms."

A member of the Art Selection Committee of the 16th Young Artists' Art Exhibition '08, renowned artist Dhali Al Mamoon said, "The competition is backdated compared to contemporary art scene around the world. It's a reflection of the old fashioned mindset of the policymakers. It's also true that many young innovative artists also are not doing anything to change the 'system'."

"In fact, the whole process needs to be changed. Evaluating photographs of thousands of art works by hundreds of artists in a short period of time can't be an ideal selection process. In each arrangement, BSA can select 50 young artists and can give them one year to come up with their best possible endeavour," suggested Mamoon as a possible way to improve the biennale.

Brigitte Bardot guilty in race case

A Paris court on Tuesday found Brigitte Bardot guilty of provoking discrimination and racial hatred for writing that Muslims are destroying France, The Associated Press reported. It was her fifth conviction for inciting racial hatred.

Bardot, the film star turned animal rights campaigner, was also fined $23,325 and ordered to pay $1,555 to the French group Movement Against Racism and for Friendship of People.

The group filed a lawsuit last year over a letter Bardot sent in December 2006 to Nicolas Sarkozy, then the interior minister and now the president of France. In that letter, published in her animal rights foundation's journal, Bardot said that France was "tired of being led by the nose by this population that is destroying us, destroying our country by imposing its acts." She was referring to the Muslim feast of Eid al-Adha, which is celebrated by slaughtering sheep or goat.
