(NGDO) will jointly organise the 4th national convention at the Bangladesh-China Friendship Conference Centre.

OFFSHORE OIL, GAS EXPLORATION

Verdict in writ petition against tender process today

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court will deliver its order today in a writ petition challenging the legality of the government action of inviting tender from international oil companies for oil and gas exploration in the Bay of Bengal.

An HC bench of Justice Md Imman Ali and Justice Md Emdadul Huq fixed the date after a hearing on the petition yesterday.

Petrobangla floated the tender on February 15 for exploration of oil and gas in 28 blocks in the Bay of Bengal.

Barrister Munshi Ahsan Kabir, a Supreme Court lawyer, and Shah Abdul Hannan, former energy secretary, jointly filed the writ petition with the HC on May 4.

In the petition, they stated that as per article 58(D) of the constitution, the caretaker government could not take any decision for exploration of natural resources like oil and gas. The petitioners also prayed to the court to direct the government to stop the tender process.

The energy secretary, law secretary and Petrobangla chairman were made respondents in the writ petition.

Barrister Abdur Razzak, the counsel for the petitioners, submitted before the court that the caretaker government is an unelected interim government, which has no jurisdiction to take any policy decisions like exploration of the mineral resources.

As per the provisions of the constitution, only the elected governments can take such policy decisions, he added.

He also said that if oil and gas are exported, not only the current generation, but also the future generation would be affected.

Additional Attorney General Salauddin Ahmed opposed the writ petition and told the court that oil and gas should be explored in order to increase the production of electricity and fertiliser.

"Gas is the only raw material for energy and power production. There is an acute shortage of electricity supply in the country. Oil and gas should be explored for the interest of the nation," he said.

GOVT-POLITICAL PARTIES DIALOGUE

IOJ proposes polls in October

UNB, Dhaka

Islami Oikya Jote (IOJ) yesterday called on the caretaker government to hold the general election in October, not in December, so that Hajis can cast their votes.

The holy haj will take place on December 7 and Eid-ul-Azha on December 9, the Jote leaders said during its dialogue with the caretaker government.

The IOJ took a strong stand against the politics of militancy and called for its elimination.

The IOJ leaders said, all parties "should come forward casting off arrogance and with an attitude of giving concession to restore peace and democratic politics in the country."

The government side assured the IOJ that haj pilgrims hopefully would be able to cast their vote after performing haj.

The government also reaffirmed that the general election would be held as per the announced timeframe.

The caretaker government is optimistic about successful conclusion of the ongoing dialogue between the government and political parties with the participation of all parties as they believe major political parties are responsible parties and have interest in transition to democratic politics through peaceful and democratic way.

Education Adviser Hossain Zillur Rahman and IOJ Chairman Mufi Fazlul Huq Amine expressed the views at a post-dialogue joint press briefing held at the Chief Adviser's Office to disseminate the outcome of the dialogue.

Other demands are immediate lifting of state of emergency and restrictions on indoor politics, inviting observers for monitoring the general election, removing doubt over holding the election in due time and ridding the nation of a sense of doubt over any initiative being taken.

Replying to a question as to whether Sheikh Hasina's release is part of reported 'minus-two' policy, Education Adviser Hossain Zillur said it is the responsibility of you (media) to analyse it. "We only will disseminate information available."

Regarding the doubts over the general election, the adviser said the government is advancing towards its goal through specific steps and following the electoral roadmap to hold the polls in a fair and peaceful atmosphere.

Strict laws, teachings of tolerance can establish disciplined society

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Academicians at a discussion yesterday called for framing stringent laws and spreading the teachings of tolerance in the educational institutions to check anarchy and establish a disciplined society.

Students played very significant roles during different turbulent democratic movements of the nation, but sometimes their violent reactions to cases like road accidents and some other incidents cause greater losses to innocent people, they added.

The Weekly Economic Times organised the discussion on "Students reaction on any incident or accident" at Institute of Diploma Engineers in the city with former vice chancellor (VC) of Dhaka University Prof Emajuddin Ahmed in the chair.

Violent reactions by students or other groups are observed mainly in the developing countries, which were once colonies of different nations. They cannot think that the government properties like transports or other structures are actually owned by the people, said Prof Emajuddin Ahmed.

"Even today violent reactions are witnessed in the developing countries where people are divided in many groups for different interests. People even engage themselves in violent activities just on the basis of rumour," he added.

Prof Emajuddin said, "Unfortunately, no effective measure has been taken to make people respectful to laws. Even the government officials and law enforcers regularly violate laws that encourage common people to follow them."
