'MUKTIJUDDHE ADIVASI' LAUNCHED Give recognition to indigenous FFs

Speakers urge govt

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Freedom fighters from the indigenous community should have recognition from the state and enjoy equal facilities as the Bangladeshi freedom fighters, speakers at a book publication ceremony said yesterday.

The people should also recognise the contribution of the indigenous people to the War of Liberation, they said and called for an immediate end to the oppression of indigenous people.

Air Vice Marshal (retd) AK Khandaker launched the book titled 'MuktiJuddhe Adivasi' (Indigenous people in the War of Liberation) at the Dhaka Reporters' Unity auditorium in the city.

Oitijhya Prakashoni published the research-based book written by Ayub Hossain and Charu Haque.

AK Khandaker said the entire nation took part in the liberation war in 1971 and that the contribution of indigenous people was equal to that of Bangladeshi. So, they should be given equal rights, he added.

Referring to several incidents of land grabbing, he said no-one has the right to grab the lands of the indigenous people.

Their contribution to the liberation war must be recognised by the state, said the war veteran.

Sanjib Drong, a writer and researcher, said the indigenous people joined the liberation war to realise their dream of a secular country, but their dream has now been shattered.

"They did not want anything from the state and the state also did not give them any reward," he said.

Poet Belal Ahmed said, "We fought for the country under the banner of 'secularism' but the secularism was hijacked from our constitution after 1975. Since then we have been turning away from the main spirit of the liberation war."

Chief Executive of Oitijhya Prakashoni Arifur Rahman Nayeem and Engineer Sheikh Muhammad Shahidullah were also present at the ceremony.

Different human rights organisations observed the 11th UN International Day in Support of Victims of Torture yesterday.

Members of the Bangladesh Rehabilitation Centre for Trauma Victim (BRC) formed a human chain in front of the High Court in the city.

They demanded to the government for withdrawal of the reservation to the Article 14 of the UN Convention Against Torture that gives relief to the person responsible for repression to someone and deprives the victim from receiving treatment and compensation from the state.

They also urged the government to ratify the optional protocol to the convention, which deals with monitoring situations in detention centres and prisons.

Meanwhile, Bangladesh Human Rights Commission (BHRC) and International Human Rights Commission (IHR) jointly organised a discussion at the national headquarters of BHRC to mark the day.

Terming corruption as a social cancer, the speakers said the common people are facing trouble every moment in business, social and service life due to corruption.

Even the prices of essential commodities are getting high, development activities are being hindered and people are getting handicapped due to corruption, they said, adding that torture is still continuing in police custody and jail which should be stopped immediately.
