Rhapsody: Featuring the cream of art from Bangladesh and India

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

A total of 47 recent art works of leading artists of Bangladesh and India are on display at Galleri Kaya. The six eminent Bangladeshi artists include Aminul Islam, Murtaja Baseer, Qayyum Chowdhury, Rafiqun Nabi, Ranjit Das and Kazi Rakib. From India are five renowned artists: Bijan Chowdhury, Kashinath Salve, Prakash Bhise, Gautam Partho Roy and Sukhomoy Majumder. The exhibition is titled Rhapsody.

Cultural personality Asaduzzaman Noor inaugurated the exhibition that runs from August 17-28. Artist Bijan Chowdhury, artist Aminul Islam and art facilitator Enayeturrahman Khan delivered speeches at the programme.

An enthusiastic Bijan Chowdhury said, "I always feel any art exhibition in Dhaka as my own and try to participate. For many years I don't work. But, being requested by Goutam (Goutam Chakroborty, director of Galleri Kaya) I'm participating at the exhibition with my recent works."

Appreciating the initiative taken by Galleri Kaya, Asaduzzaman Noor said, "The participation of the leading artists of two countries has given a new dimension. Joint cultural activities like this can develop bilateral relationship between the states."

Artists in different mediums such as oil, acrylic, ink and charcoal have done realistic and abstract works. The exhibition is a rare opportunity for the art lovers to have an idea of the recent works of the master artists of the sub-continent.

Shukonya: A cultural troupe for underprivileged children

CULTURAL CORRESPONDENT

Many underprivileged children have excelled in theatre, music, dance and recitation. Behind the scenes, several cultural organisations have targeted this section. In their ranks is the Feni-based Shukonya, which largely addresses itself to the girl child.

Shukonya was formed in May 22, 2006. Since then, the organisation has regularly held and participated in a number of cultural programmes. "The troupe has made an impact among the inhabitants of Feni through its activities," asserted Samarjit Das Tutul, one of the patrons of Shukonya.

National days are celebrated with plays and recitation, while Pahela Baishakh is marked with a day-long cultural programme. The troupe also arranges programme on "Meena Day", the day dedicated to children by Unicef.

At present, 10 children are actively working at Shukonya. "Besides taking part in cultural activities, all the children are going to school, which is an achievement," said Tutul. However, the troupe faces some obstacles such as the lack of a permanent office. To carry out rehearsals and other official activities, the troupe shares space with Pubali Sangskritik Kendra, another cultural troupe of Feni.

Clearly, Shukonya is in need of a better platform and infrastructure to achieve its goal.
