investment in revival
of jute industry

STAR BUSINESS DESK

Commerce Adviser Hossain Zillur Rahman, now on a visit to Turkey, has invited Turkish investment in the revival of Bangladesh's jute industry currently underway.

He also listed the facilities his country offers for the foreign investors, which include cheap labour, tax holiday and infrastructural support.

The call for investment came during the adviser's meeting with Turkish Minister for Industries and Foreign Trade Kurshad Tuzman in Ankara on Tuesday, according to an official handout yesterday.

He told Tuzman that ready-made garments (RMG), pharmaceuticals, textiles, jute and jute products, energy, leather and ceramics are the most potential sectors of business between the two countries.

Budget deficit to reach 5.2pc
of GDP in FY 09Economist Intelligence
Unit says

STAR BUSINESS REPORT

The Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU) forecasts Bangladesh's budget deficit for fiscal year 2008-09 at 5.2 percent of GDP instead of the official target of 5 percent.

Real GDP is expected to grow by 6 percent in the current fiscal, driven by strong household spending and investment, said EIU, a part of The Economist Group.

It predicts the political scene will remain unsettled until early 2009. The next general election is due in late 2008. Despite the introduction of a range of electoral reforms, the EIU said the election is expected to be fought by two long-time rivals -- Awami League and Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP).

Consumer price inflation is expected to remain high over the forecast period, averaging 8.2 percent in 2008 and 8.8 percent in 2009.

The trade deficit is expected to swell to record level in 2008-09, as demand for industrial raw materials rises and international oil prices stay high.

Euro prolongs recovery
against dollar

AFP, London

The euro gained further against the dollar Thursday on market speculation that eurozone interest rate cuts are unlikely in the near future, dealers said.

In morning London deals, the European single currency rose to 1.4765 dollars from 1.4737 in New York late on Wednesday.

Against the Japanese currency, the dollar dropped to 109.08 yen from 109.47. The euro climbed further away from six month lows of below 1.46 dollars, reached on Tuesday in the wake of downbeat consumer confidence and business sentiment surveys in Germany, Europe's biggest economy.

"Anticipation of a quick rate cut by the ECB now seems to be fading on the back of comments by bank members and this has helped lift the euro away from recent dollar lows," said CMC Markets analyst

James Hughes.

The euro has been buoyed by comments from European Central Bank policymaker Axel Weber, who indicated the bank was unlikely to lower interest rates anytime soon.

Up to now, markets have been expecting rate cuts from the ECB and hikes from the US Federal Reserve to narrow the rate differential in the two regions.

The dollar was also being pressured by a fresh rise in oil prices on concerns that Tropical Storm Gustav could hit oil and gas installations in the Gulf of Mexico, dealers said.

Market players were looking ahead to another batch of US economic indicators, including second-quarter economic growth and a home price survey due Thursday.

Dealers said the greenback could get a boost from the snapshot of economic second-quarter growth amid hopes it would be revised upwards from an earlier estimate of 1.9 percent.
