

EID SHOPPING IS ON

EID shopping has begun. Although Eid is more than two weeks away, shoppers have started crowding the city's popular spots like Gausia, Chandni Chawk, New Market, Elephant Road and Bashundhara City. But most of buyers are still moving from stall to stall in the malls as the 'Eid Specials' by different fashion houses are yet to hit the markets. As for the low and middle-income groups, the prices are frustrating. Shopkeepers this year have almost doubled the prices of clothes and saris, which do not match their budget. On the other hand, the traders are also frustrated as their sale is still very poor. However, shopping is expected to gain momentum in the next few days when most of the people will be 'bound to buy something' for their near and dear ones.
