

PAINTING THE DEATH PANGS OF BURIGANGA

It was a different day on Buriganga. With the slogan to revive the beauty of the river a band of leading artists and cultural activists of the country Friday went on a daylong river cruise. They viewed and reviewed the state of the city's lifeline. They painted their pangs on paper and canvas to protest the non-stop encroachment and pollution. The trip started from Basila Ghat towards Munshiganj on a beautifully decorated boat. Some also took pictures of the river later to be displayed at Gallery Chitrak. Bengal Tours and GalleryChitrak arranged the trip to celebrate 400 years of the city.

Photo: SYED ZAKIR HOSSAIN

