Four Interesting, Useful

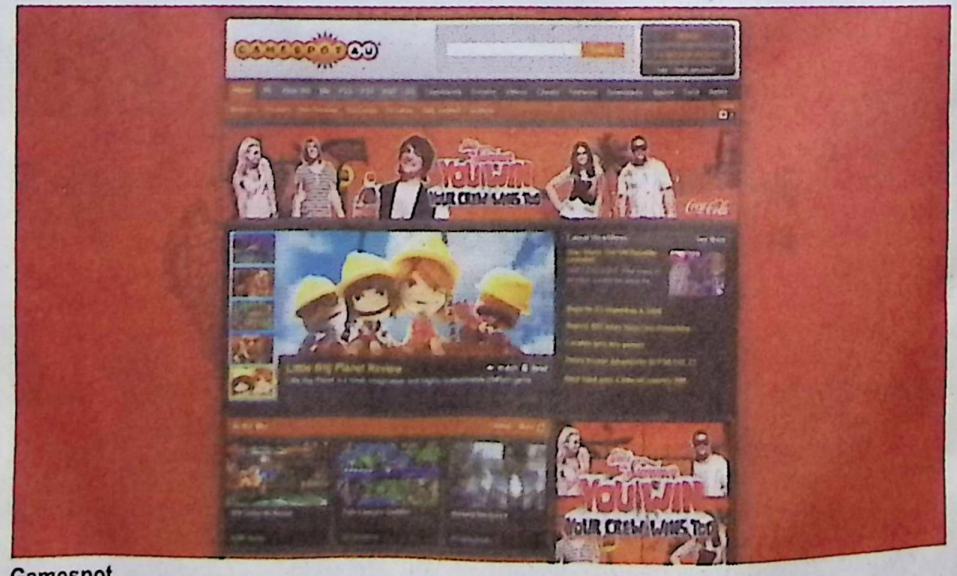

In the 21st century, life is like a stagnant pool of water without the Internet. Everything we do, wherever we go, whatever we see, is all somehow connected to the net. It's a crucial part of most of our lives. Ever thought what the Internet would be without some of its best websites? Well the answer obviously is not something one has to ponder; great websites are the backbone of the Internet. This week we look at some of the most interesting, useful and popular websites the net has to offer. The websites are each fun and distinct in their own way, and all offer some form of utility to us.

1.{www.mininova.org } Many of us may not be familiar with this website, but those of us who are, know the beauty of it. There isn't much history about this website just plain usefulness. From games, software, pictures to movies, TV shows and books, everything is available to be downloaded from this website. However, there is one small catch. The user has to have knowledge of 'torrents' and how to use .'torrent downloading' software. Other than that, just go on downloading.

Mininova

2. {www.gamespot.com} This site is like a sanctuary for gamers. The A-Z of games, such as hints, reviews, pictures and even patches can be found, read and downloaded from this website. What's even more interesting is that, the information is not only for personal computer (PC) games, but also games from every console ever made like Play Station, X-box, GameCube, Nintendo Wii, PSP etc. If you are a gamer and are having problems with games, be it technical, mental or physical just go to this website, it will not let you down. Furthermore, you can also check the site for release dates, technical specifications and screenshots of upcoming games, which are vital when you are planning on buying them.

Gamespot