For those of whom, who have no idea what I'm talking about, well E-card is a card which is sent over the internet. It has taken the world by storm, due to simplicity, interactivity and most importantly its swiftness.

3. {www.imdb.com} If you watch movies, whether it's English or Hindi, you must get acquainted with this website. IMDb (the internet movie database), has any information you can ask for about Hollywood, Bollywood and other movies. Starting from the cast, to the director to the producer, all types of data including pictures are available at this handily designed website. In fact, you can even add information to any movie you want, which obviously will be verified and updated later. As a bonus, the site has records of almost all actors, and the movies and serials they appeared in throughout their career. Thus, if you are deciding to watch any new flicks, just go to this website and search for the film. You can read reviews about it and choose whether the movie is worth your time or not. Be careful though, as sometimes the reviews may contain 'spoilers' and eventually ruin your movie experience.

4. {www.123greetings.com} Let us picture a scenario, where suppose you are living abroad and your mother's birthday is tomorrow. You did not send her a card, let alone gifts, and it's too late to do them anyway. What do you do? The answer is simple. Go to this website, send an E-card and give her a call at 12am to wish her Happy Birthday. Not only will she be happy but also very excited to read the cool E-card you just sent. For those of whom, who have no idea what I'm talking about, well E-card is a card which is sent over the internet. It has taken the world by storm, due to simplicity, interactivity and most importantly its swiftness. You can send E-cards to every corner of the world in less than a few seconds. The cards provided in this website are all free of cost. Cards are available for any occasions you want. You name it, Eid, Christmas, Puja, Hanukkah, anything. They are also very well designed, with words that could either melt your heart with love or your brains with anger. Some of the cards are also very humorous, while others are not so. There are broad categories for people who you can send it to, be it mom, dad, children, nephew, wife, cousin, and go on to describe every possible relationship that could form between two human beings. Lastly, if you are wondering about quality, the E-cards can compete with real cards from Archie's or Hallmark any day. ■
