

A DAZZLING EVENING

It was an evening full of dazzles, fashion, history and evolution. In a glittering light-and-sound show models walked down the ramp at the historic Lalbagh Fort representing the Mughals, the British, Khelafat Movement, Language Movement, Liberation War and the Bengali New Year. With the music of sitar, jazz and Begum Akhtar, around 80 models displayed outfits worn by the elite and the commoners in the last 400 years in Dhaka. The show started with the beats of dhak (traditional drum) from where the name Dhaka came. Besides, there were traditional foods of the last four centuries. Designers Emdad Hoque, Tootli Rahman, Kuhu and Bibi Russell did a brilliant job of representing the fashion in the last 400 years. Dhaka Chamber of Commerce and Industry (DCCI) organised the event last Friday.
