KYAMCH: A dream

WHAT sets man apart from the other living beings is his power to think ahead. Great thinkers have dazzled us with their visions of grandeur and left us paths to follow to find the true meaning of life. One such visionary was Khawaja Yunus Ali Enayetpuri (PBUH); a great saint who is much revered all over the Asian subcontinent. About 70 years ago, on a day much like today, he set out and planted a wooden peg on the bank of the Jamuna River. He later declared to his followers that one day on this very spot a philanthropic organization will arise.

Though the saint is long gone, his dream still lives on and the Khwaja Yunus Ali Medical College & Hospital (KYAMCH) which has been established on this spot after all these years. This institute is a charitable organization dedicated to help the sufferings of humanity by giving medical treatment at an affordable cost. KYAMCH has been established by Dr. M M Amjad Hossian, a person who has been greatly influenced by the teachings of the saint Khawaja Yunus Ali (PBUH) and he has dedicated his life to make this vision a reality. This dream has slowly taken wings and now KYAMCH has become one of the largest non-government hospitals in Bangladesh.

The foundation stone of this institute was laid in 1995 on a span of 58 acres of land! The first patients were received in the outdoor department in May 2004. The first patients were admitted to the indoor department exactly after one year in 2005. Now KYAMCH boasts of being one of the few hospitals outside Dhaka having a fully functional Cardiac Operation Unit. KYAMCH also has the most advanced cancer treatment and research institute in Bangladesh with the only functioning linear accelerator (LINAC).The hospital now has
