ANNOUNCEMENT

THE 14 December issue of Star Campus will be on Our Valiant Freedom Fighters. They sacrificed their lives, blood and body limbs for the country. It is because of their sacrifice we have got our beloved Bangladesh. So, if you know of a freedom fighter in your family, your friends' family or in your village then take a trip and talk to the elderly people there and rediscover the heroes living in seclusion, away from all the gleam and glitter. Let the world know about them through your article. Can't we do this much for them?

Please write an article (word limit - 500 words) on this hero and collect his/her photograph and send it to us. Send your passport size photo as well. Your article should reach us by December 5 to the following address: starcampus@gmail.com

Editor
Star Campus

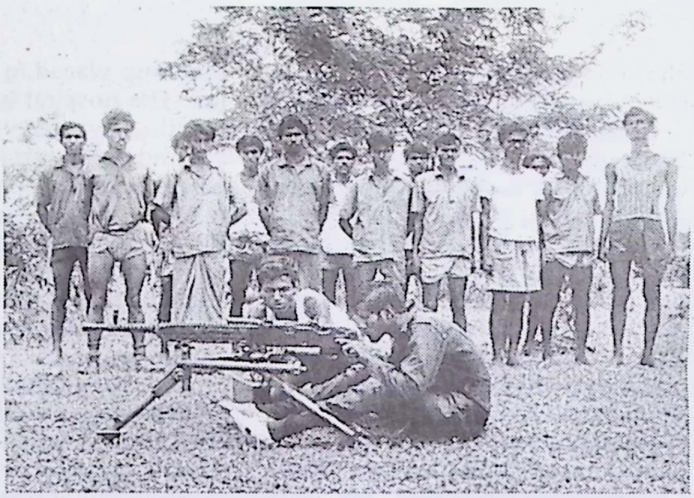

Photo Credits

Star Campus will bear no responsibility for photos and pictures sent in by its contributors without proper reference and credit.
Hence, all contributors are requested to properly cite references of pictures/photos, which they send in with their articles. Names of photographers/websites must be properly cited at the end of the article.

Star Campus Desk

Erratum

Due to a technical glitch, page 9 of the last issue of Star Campus was also printed in place of page 6. We regret the mishap.

Star Campus Desk

Star Campus -Guidelines for Submission

1. Please abstain from using both American and British spelling convention in the same article/feature/report. Use either of the two.
2. Send your articles in MS-Word (.doc) file only. Relevant pictures should be sent in JPEG form and never in pdf/tif or any other form. We may not accept pictures inserted in MS-Word files.
3. We have been receiving complaints about misspelled names from Teachers, Professors, Vice-Chancellors and other professionals who attend various events at different educational institutes. Writers/reporters are requested to check the spelling of names before mentioning those in their articles. The best way is to ask for a visiting card of the person being mentioned. On receiving further complaints, we may have to stop publishing any more articles/reports from that particular author. Star Campus will not be held responsible for any wrong spelling of names.
4. Star Campus is open to articles and features from all teachers and students from different universities, schools (Grade 9 and 10 only) and colleges in Bangladesh, as well as from Bangladeshi students and teachers studying/teaching abroad. It is a common misconception that we have a set group of writers, which actually is not the case.
5. Because of the overwhelming popularity of Star Campus, we receive hundreds of articles, features, photo features and travelogues every week. So do not be disappointed if your article does not get published soon after you send it. A good article will surely get published, sooner or later.
6. We encourage articles about events in your institute or thought-provoking articles based on real life scenarios. Because of space constraint, we cannot always entertain poems and short stories sent in by our contributors.
7. For the first- time writers, our suggestion is to have your write-up checked by a teacher before sending them to us. We find many articles being sent to us without properly being checked beforehand. Common errors include the usage of small letters for people/organization's names, using '&' in place of 'and' among other things.

-Star Campus Desk