AIUB wins ASIA-PACIFIC REGIONAL AWARDS from CISCO

CISCO recently concluded its' annual Asia-Pacific Regional Conference at Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam on December 10-13th, 2008. At the conference an award ceremony was held to recognize exceptional performances by Cisco Networking Academies across the APAC Region including Australia and New Zealand. This year out of over 1400 academies across the APAC region, the American International University Bangladesh (AIUB) received 2 prestigious awards from Cisco for exceptional performances in different areas. The first award was for "Exceptional Performance as a Cisco Networking Academy across the Asia Pacific region in the year 2008" and the second award was for "Outstanding Performance as a Quality Assurance Academy across the Asia Pacific Region in the year 2008". AIUB is blessed to be the only institution from Bangladesh to have ever received such high achievement awards of international standing from Cisco. It may be worth mentioning that AIUB had recorded the highest CCNA student enrollment of any Cisco academy in the Asia Pacific Region.

This year CISCO has upgraded AIUB from a local academy status to a Regional Academy to further promote their e-Learning based ICT education program in Bangladesh and other SAARC countries. Additionally, the AIUB Cisco Academy has also been appointed as the only Quality Assurance Academy for Bangladesh with the additional responsibility for Maldives, and Sri Lanka also. The Director of the Continuing Education Center, Asst. Professor Mohammad Rezaur Razzak manages the Cisco Networking Academy at AIUB.
