Star Campus - djuice model hunt programme concludes

IT was thrill and anticipation at The Daily Star conference room last Saturday when some of the short-listed students from various campuses across the country came to face the judges for final selection. It was also the last day for Star Campus - djuice campus-based model hunt programme. As expected, they were nervous in the beginning but soon found their breath to give answers to various general knowledge questions. Topics ranged from the Liberation War of Bangladesh to Second World War; from Bangladesh politics to US presidential election; from geography to history; from fashion to sports, from music to movies and so on.

The judges keenly observed the dress sense, mannerism, confidence level, pronunciation, accent, personal likings and dislikings, taste for music and leadership quality.

From 650 aspiring models from across 60 campuses around the country (college & universities), 25 girls and 25 boys were short listed. From the short listed models 5 girls and 5 boys were selected by a panel of judges that included
