Shafique's holding of 2 posts challenged

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A writ petition was filed yesterday with the High Court (HC) challenging the legality of Law Minister Shafique Ahmed holding post of the minister and the post of a member of Bangladesh Bar Council simultaneously.

Advocate ABM Nurul Islam filed the writ praying for issuing a rule upon the law minister and two others concerned to show cause as to why their non-recognition and non-invitation to him (petitioner) as a member of the Bar Council following the Shafique Ahmed's assumption of the ministry should not be declared illegal.

Two other respondents are Attorney General Mahbub Alam, ex-officio chairman of Bar Council, and its secretary.

In the petition Nurul Islam said as per Article 12 of Bangladesh Bar Council Order 1972, if any elected member of the Bar Council assumes another office of the government or any statutory body, the post of that member will be casually vacant and the candidate, who received the next highest number of votes in the Bar Council election, will be entitled to be the member. According to the petition, Nurul Islam is the receiver of the next highest number of votes in the election and he (Islam) should be entitled as a member of the Bar Council in the absence of Shafique Ahmed as per the law.

The petition said Shafique Ahmed is holding two statutory posts - the ministry of the law, justice and parliamentary affairs and the member of the Bar Council. As per provisions of Article 58 (2) of the Constitution, a person cannot hold two statutory posts at a time, he said.

Advocate Nurul Islam yesterday told The Daily Star that Law Minister Shafique Ahmed is his very close friend; he has given up the post of vice-chairman of Bar Council, but still holds the post of its member.

"If he gives up the post of the member of Bar Council, I shall be entitled to be a member of the Bar Council, as I am the receiver of the eighth highest number of votes in Bar Council election. There are seven posts of general members in the council," he said.

He added that the hearing of the writ petition will be held on Sunday.

2 held on charges of triple murder at Jatrabari

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Four days after the killings of a mother and her two daughters in the city's Jatrabari area, police arrested two youths on March 3 and 4 and recovered a bangle of the mother.

Jatrabari police said criminals strangled Shahna Akther Nazma, 38, and her daughters Urmi Akther, 14, and Rumi, 4, at her residence on February 28 only to take revenge on Nazma.

Jatrabari police produced the criminals before a court yesterday to record their statements under section 164.

Sub-Inspector (SI) Mazharul Islam said they arrested suspected killer Masud Chowdhury alias Sumon, 21, who was brother of Nazma, from South Surma area in Sylhet Sadar on March 3.

According to his confessional statement, the same team arrested Sumon's accomplice Kamal Ahmed, 28, from Kotwali area of the town the following day.

Quoting Sumon, the SI said he was severely beaten up by his elder sister Nazma at the age of 10 and at that time he determined that he would kill his sister some day.

The accused mentioned that he made several futile attempts to kill his sister. On February 28, he along with his two accomplices reached Dhaka in the morning and took position near his sister's residence.

When Sumon's brother-in-law Abdur Rashid Khan and his nephew left the house, they entered it and strangled Nazma and Urmi, while Rumi was drowned in a big water container on their fourth floor flat in a six-storey building.

Acting on a tip-off, the SI said, they conducted a drive in Sylhet and arrested the two suspected killers, while the other suspect Anwar, 30, is still at large.

Cut in maternal mortality rate not significant

Reveals WB report

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The World Bank (WB) report on 'Sparing lives -- Better reproductive health for poor women in South Asia' yesterday revealed that despite significant progress in some areas of reproductive health, the maternal mortality ratio (MMR) is not reduced significantly.

The report that highlighted the reproductive health situation and a comparative situation analysis in Bangladesh, India, Nepal, Pakistan and Sri Lanka also said Bangladesh needs to cut maternal mortality into half to achieve the Millennium Development Goal (MDG).

The report was launched simultaneously in these five countries and representatives from the countries took part in the programme through video conferencing.

For Bangladesh, it is a challenge to bring MMR to 120 per thousand live births which is now 320. Still 50 percent girls are forced to marry in their teens, while over 13 percent bear a child at this age for lack of education and poverty, added the report.

These teenagers also suffer from malnutrition and give birth to malnourished children that further lead to increased rate of infant mortality ratio (IMR).

The report also showed that mothers with no education are almost 2.5 times more likely to be undernourished than mothers who have completed secondary education, while poor women have substantially worse reproductive health than better off women in all the five South Asian countries.

The major risks faced by poor women widely include gender discrimination, early childbearing, poor nutrition, high fertility, poor awareness about health, low access of quality health services and ultimately child loss and death themselves.

The report also recommended increasing the supply of reproductive health services for poor women substantially. The complete essential package of reproductive health services must be provided in an interesting manner.

Maternal and child health care, family planning, nutritional care, safe abortion, treatment of reproductive infections, referral and all relevant information and counseling should be made available through a 'single window' and demand for available services should be enhanced.

World Bank Bangladesh Country Director Xian Zhu said, "We will continue our support to nutrition and girls' education. The government of Bangladesh has already initiated innovative ways in order to provide better health services to poor pregnant women. One such initiative is the maternal health voucher scheme that is operational in 35 upazilas in Bangladesh."

Family Planning Director General Mohammad Abdul Qayyum said, "Bangladesh is committed to reducing maternal, neonatal and child mortality, while family planning forms an integral part of the national response," adding that a number of packages with interventions at different levels from community to hospital are in place.

PILKHANA TRAGEDY

'Form credible probe committee'

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Speakers at a roundtable yesterday demanded a fair and credible investigation committee headed by a retired justice instead of calling foreign investigators.

Chirantan Bangladesh organised the roundtable titled the 'Pilkhana tragedy: Sovereignty and national security' at the National Press Club in the city.

Former law minister Moudud Ahmed said those who tried to prove Bangladesh as a failed state in the past have committed the brutal killings at Pilkhana against the army officers.

Strong forces are working in the country for long to prove it a failed state. Unfortunately, the plot was hatched during the interim caretaker government, he added.

He said politics has been dysfunctional and paralytic through accusing leaders in corruption cases, while media was engaged in ruining good images of the key political leaders instead of revealing the truth.

Now the culprit forces attacked the armed forces of the country to destabilise national security and sovereignty.

The government can identify the forces or the people responsible for the Pilkhana mayhem if it wants, but the government is riding on its wrong decisions.

Barrister Rafiqul Islam, former minister, called on the government to make things clear to the public and not to let the criminals go unpunished.

Presiding over the roundtable, Wing Commander (ret'd) M Hamidullah Khan said the government is now calling FBI and Scotland Yard to conduct a proper investigation into the killings.

"But I haven't found these organisations solved any such problem in recent time. They even could not give any solution to the terrorist incidents of their own countries."

Senior Assistant Secretary General of Jamaat Muhammad Kamaruzzaman, former BDR DG Maj Gen (ret'd) Anwar Hossain, Editor of the daily Amar Desh Amanullah Kabir and Jubo Dal General Secretary Moazzem Hossain Alal also spoke.

They speakers echoed the demand for a credible probe committee headed by a retired justice.

Emphasising the need for national unity, they urged the government to unite all political parties to overcome this national crisis instead of handling the situation alone.

Three other witnesses -- Saijuddin, Abdul Jabbar and Shafiqul Islam said Nizam is their friend and they went to Metropolitan Hospital after hearing the news of Belal who was injured in the grenade attacks on August 21, 2004.
